Nehru Tells Soviet Guests India Won't Forsake Neutrality

Russia Would Help
Asian Country Grow
Strong Industrially

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 20 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru tonight gave notice to his Russian guests—Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev—not to expect their visit to swing India into the Communist bloc.

The Indian Prime Minister spoke at a state banquet for the two Soviet leaders after Khrushchev, at a visit to the Taj Mahal at Agra, had announced a wish to help this country become strong industrially to "assure its freedom and independence."

Nehru conceded that Russian-Indian friendship is deep, but reiterated determination to keep India from taking sides in the cold war.

Pacts Not Road To Peace

"We are convinced," he said, "it is not by military pacts and alliances and by piling up armaments that world peace and security can be attained."

"There is talk of a cold war and rival camps and groupings and military blocs and alliances—all in the name of peace."

"We are in no camp and no military alliance. The only camp we should like to be in is the camp of peace and goodwill, which should include as many countries as possible and be opposed to none. The only alliance we seek is an alliance based on goodwill and co-operation."

Bulganin declared the Soviet Union has "not lost hopes" as a result of the Geneva meeting of Big Four foreign ministers and is "certain that in the end the four powers will succeed in solving the problems which face them."

Nehru Sets Precedent

Russia wants to lessen international tension and "in the future wishes also to support this policy, no matter what might be the difficulties," he said.

He said he thought the German people "should be left to themselves" to seek a solution of the problems of Germany.

In his speech, Nehru did not seem to admit the Communist claim that theirs is the only true peace camp. But his pointed reminder that India is not a member of either camp did not prevent his setting a precedent for his Soviet guests.

Stump To Begin Formosa Talks

TAIPEI, Formosa, Nov. 20 (AP)—Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, arrived today for a three-day visit "to see, listen and learn."

Chinese Nationalist leaders, however, thought the call might result in stepped-up U.S. aid to Free China.

Stump came to Formosa from Hong Kong, accompanied by his wife.

At the airport newsmen asked him whether Communist China would be bombed if the Reds provoked a clash with United States forces in the Far East. Newsmen were wondering if Red China's home bases would be given the "sanctuary" break Communist targets north of the Yalu River were given in the Korean War.

"You ask the President of the United States that," Stump replied. "It's up to him to decide—but I don't think he'll be generous enough to give them any sanctuaries if they start anything."

The admiral said he had come to Formosa "like I always do, to see, listen and learn."

Truman Hails Stevenson's Slap At GOP

Ex-President, Still Neutral, Will Work
For 'Liberal' Demo

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said today he intends to work in the next few months for the nomination by the Democrats next year of a "liberal and progressive" presidential candidate.

Although he continued publicly to maintain neutrality in the contest for the party's 1956 nomination, Truman said—perhaps significantly—that Adlai E. Stevenson "made the best New Deal speech I ever heard him make" before a Democratic rally here last night.

Truman voiced these views in an interview with Gov. Averell Harriman of New York told a news conference that to him "there is no such word as 'moderate' in the Democratic party."

"Are we 'moderately' for the farmer?" he demanded. "Are we 'moderately' for the small business man? No, we are for him all the way."

Harriman Keeps Door Open

Harriman, who kept open the door of his own availability for the 1956 nomination, said he agrees with Truman that the Democrats can't win if they desert what both called a "liberal" viewpoint.

The New York governor made it clear that he intends to make his weight felt when the time for drafting of a Democratic platform comes next summer.

"We in New York are going to have something to say about the direction the party takes and the issues it makes," he asserted.

Stevenson, thus far the only announced candidate for the nomination he held in 1952, told a nationally televised party dinner here last night that he agrees "moderation is the spirit of the times."

But he said it must not be confused with stagnation.

Truman Desires Party Unity

He went on to list farm, school, health, social security, labor and civil rights as fields in which the government must seek progress. This evidently pleased Truman, who beamed alike on Stevenson, Harriman and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who may throw his hat in the ring for the nomination race next month.

Truman, who previously had said he favored Stevenson, explained that he was maintaining neutrality now in the intraparty contest because he regards it as his duty to do everything he can to try to unify the Democrats.

He made it clear, however, that he doesn't believe in unity obtained at the price of a compromise which would steer the Democrats on a "conservative" course.

Mrs. Ann Woodward Will Leave Hospital

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—Mrs. Ann Woodward's doctor said tonight she will leave Doctor's Hospital tomorrow, three weeks and one day after she shot and killed her millionaire husband.

Mrs. Woodward has been treated for shock and hysteria at the hospital since the early morning slaying of William Woodward Jr., Oct. 30 at their Oyster Bay estate. She told police she mistook her husband for a prowler.

Husky Thief Sought

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—It must have been a husky thief who hauled off $3,350 worth of pennies from the office of a vending machine company yesterday.

John Difore, the owner, said the pennies weighed 280 pounds.

Nine Die In Wreck Of British Train

MILTON, England, Nov. 20 (AP)—A derailment sent a packed excursion train tumbling over a 20-foot embankment today, killing at least nine passengers and injuring 99.

The engine, tender and four of the nine coaches piled up in a twisted, steaming wreck. Rescuers feared more bodies might lie in the smashed front coach which landed under the locomotive at the bottom of the bank.

Emergency calls brought dozens of ambulances and army trucks speeding into this sleepy Berkshire village, 64 miles west of London, to handle casualties. Floodlights played over the scene as soldiers from a nearby ordnance depot continued to cut into the wreckage.

British railway officials said they had no idea what caused the derailment. The train was a Sunday special bringing people from South Wales and England's West Country for a one-day visit to London.

Morocco Faces Bloody Road To Independence

RABAT, French Morocco, Nov. 20 (AP)—Morocco is starting on the road to independence but under the constant threat of party violence, despite the return from exile of Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef.

Responsible leaders say they want peace but political bitterness is hard to restrain.

14 Killed In Clashes

Semi-official reports put the death toll in clashes yesterday at 14, including at least two killed in the courtyard of the imperial palace itself while the Sultan worked inside on plans for keeping the peace. Among those seriously wounded was Mohammed Ben Larbi el Fichtali, a tribal leader of the Fez region who had much to do with Youssef's removal two years ago. Principal victim was the caliph of Rez, a supporter of deposed Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafat.

Revenge is mainly directed against those who took a stand opposing the Sultan but there have also been incidents between members of rival nationalist parties which support him.

Party leaders link yesterday's bloody lynchings around the palace to the fact that mounted police forces were not officially called in to help keep order.

Sultan Voices Appeal
Last night the Sultan took to the radio and called on his people to stay home. He promised to come and visit them. But today another 50,000 Moroccans, by unofficial estimate, came through the gates.

This time police were there. The Sultan came out on his special platform and made another plea for calm.

Political parties would like to see the Sultan's government take over police powers. They have given instructions to their volunteers to be as polite as possible and make a good impression on the French and foreigners.

Texas Tower Is Damaged By Storm But No One Hurt

Editor's Note—The following story was transmitted via marine telephone by Associated Press staffer Don Guy, who, with a group of Air Force and civilian technicians has been marooned by bad weather atop the Texas tower since Thursday.

By DON GUY

TEXAS TOWER, 110 miles off Cape Cod, Mass., Nov. 20 (AP)—A storm of hurricane violence is slamming this first radar island today with 35-foot waves but no casualties have been sustained by the 87 persons aboard.

Waves pounded by gusts up to 82 m.p.h. have torn loose an 80-ton fender from one of the three legs. The fender jolted the 8,000-ton platform containing the living quarters for some eight hours before it broke off and sank.

Construction superintendent George Bauer said he felt no concern for the safety of the tower but ordered "no men on deck" at the height of the storm lest they be blown overboard.

A 125-foot-long flying bridge scaffolding underneath the platform was swung around by the fury of the storm and the end torn loose.

The storm seemed to whip out of nowhere during the night. The weather forecast had been for only 35-45 m.p.h. winds.

Work is going on as usual inside the tower for many of the technicians aboard. But the 37 visitors aboard since Thursday were having more excitement than they had anticipated.

Police Say 'Date' Gave Coed Poison

MANSFIELD, Conn., Nov. 20 (AP)—A University of Connecticut coed was reported in good health today, but police have charged a boy friend with trying to poison her.

William R. Singer, 26, of Wallingford, is charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

State police said he denied giving arsenic to Miss Elsie Treggor, 24, of West Hartford, and was unable to explain traces of arsenic found in his own system.

Police say that Miss Treggor complained to the university physician of abdominal pain about three weeks ago. At his request, a state toxicologist made tests which police said showed arsenic in the girl's system.

State police investigated, and on Nov. 12 arrested Singer when he showed up at her dormitory to keep a football date.

All Aboard C54 Killed In Crash

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov. 20 (AP)—Ground rescue parties today reached the scene of the wreckage of an Air Force transport on rugged Mt. Charleston and reported finding no survivors.

An Air Force spokesman said the C54 was identified positively as the plane missing since Thursday morning on a flight from Burbank, Calif., to the Nevada atom bomb testing grounds.

The 14 persons aboard, including five Air Force men, five AF civilian workers, two aviation engineers and two consultants, were found dead, the Air Force said.

The rescuers radioed that they expected to bring all of the bodies down to the Nellis Air Force Base rest camp at the 8,500-foot level by nightfall. The bodies are to be taken to Nellis for identification by casualty identification officers.

Ex-Convict Hunted In Death Of Girl, 4

WEST GREENWICH, R.I., Nov. 20 (AP)—State police swore out a murder warrant today for a 29-year-old Massachusetts ex-convict wanted in connection with the death of a 4-year-old girl, whose body was discovered yesterday in a paint shed at the rear of her home.

A nationwide alarm was sent out for William Henry Crough of Waltham, Mass., who planned to marry the mother of pretty little Deborah Conlon in January.

Deborah's body was found wrapped in a white chenille bedspread in the shed shortly after her mother, Mrs. Beatrice Conlon, 30, a divorcee, reported her missing since Friday.

A note, purportedly left on the body by Crough, said the girl met with an accident on a swing and died while he was trying to give her artificial respiration. Because of his police record, the note said, Crough left fearing no one would believe him.

Premiers Open Baghdad Pact Session Today

BAGHDAD, Iraq, Nov. 20 (AP)—The premiers of four of Russia's southern neighbors and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan assembled in this ancient city today for the inaugural council meeting of the five-nation Baghdad Pact.

The British-supported pact links Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan in a mutual security system along the Soviet Union's southern border from the Black Sea to the Himalayas. It connects with NATO, to the west, through Turkey, and with SEATO, to the east, through Pakistan, in a non-Communist security system virtually circling the world.

U. S. Sends Observers

It was announced last night that the United States, which already is backing some of the members with military aid, would send observers to the council meetings which start tomorrow in Al Zahour (Flower) Palace across the Tigris from Baghdad.

U.S. Ambassador W. J. Gallman and Adm. John E. Cassidy, top U.S. naval officer in Europe, will be the observers.

The sessions are expected to last two days.

Delegations Arrive

Prime Minister Chaudhri Mohammed Ali of Pakistan and Macmillan arrived from Karachi and London by air this morning. Premier Hussein Ala of Iran, who Thursday escaped an assassin's bullet in Tehran, came by train wearing a small patch on his neck as the only sign of the incident.

With them came delegations comprising Foreign Ministry officials and military leaders.

Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes and his large delegation drew the greeting arrangements into confusion by landing three hours late.

Father And Three Children Die In Fire

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 20 (AP)—An explosion and fire turned a two-story log frame home into a death trap for three children and their father late last night.

Mrs. Wallace Ellefson, 26, leaped to safety from her second-floor bedroom but was listed in critical condition in St. Mary's Hospital with severe burns.

Trapped in their beds when flames engulfed the building were Ellefson, 30, and his three children, Douglas, 4, Patricia, 6 and Arlette, 7.

A Duluth fire department official said the blast apparently was touched off by a leaky gas line in the house.

Globemaster Crash On Iwo Costs 10 Lives

One Man Survives
As Disaster Strikes
Big Plane On Takeoff

TOKYO, Monday, Nov. 21 (AP)—A giant Globemaster cargo plane of the U.S. Air Force crashed yesterday on take-off from typhoon-shattered Iwo Jima in the Western Pacific, killing 10 of the 11 persons aboard.

An Air Force spokesman said the huge C124 of the 374th Troop Carrier Wing crashed on the island as it took off on the return flight to its home base, Tachikawa Air Force Base near Tokyo, after a cargo-carrying mission.

Survivor Flown To Japan

The lone survivor was being airlifted to a hospital near Tokyo, the spokesman said.

Names of the nine crewmen and two passengers were withheld pending notification of next of kin. Details of the crash were not immediately available.

A board of officers was sent from Japan to investigate.

Iwo Jima, famed World War II battle site, is 700 miles southeast of Tokyo. Installations at the strategic U.S. base there were 99 per cent demolished by a typhoon only a month ago.

Double-Decked Plane

The Air Force said the four-engine, double-decked Globemaster crashed as it took off from Iwo Jima's small central air base at 5 p.m. yesterday—3 a.m. Sunday, EST.

The last Globemaster crash in the Far East occurred outside Tokyo on June 18, 1953, shortly before the signing of the Korean armistice. It killed 129 soldiers, passengers and was the worst disaster in aviation history.

Globemasters are equipped to carry a maximum of 200 troops, or 74,000 pounds of cargo.

10 Persons Die In Fiery Auto Crash

WATERBURY, Neb., Nov. 20 (AP)—Ten persons, including six teenagers returning from a church party, were killed this evening in a two-car collision about 10 miles west of here.

The State Safety Patrol said the car containing the six young Nebraskaers apparently "blew a front tire" and it collided head-on with a car containing four persons from Illinois.

The Illinois car caught fire after the accident and only quick thinking by Henry Waltman, a trucker from Pierce, Nebr., saved both cars from burning.

Waltman hooked his truck on the flaming Illinois car and pulled it down the highway away from the Nebraska vehicle.

Positive identification of the Illinois bodies was not immediately possible, due to their burned condition.

The Nebraska dead were identified by Sheriff Sam Curry as: Rodney Hanks, Gary Stark, Robert Rakow, Perry Brook, Richard Rohn and Ronald Nobbe.

Sheriff Curry said the youths had been at a church social in nearby Laurel and were returning home.

Capt. C. J. Sanders of the Nebraska Safety Patrol said he believed it was the worst highway accident in history in Nebraska.

MANILA, Monday, Nov. 21 (AP)—Two overloaded buses racing toward a narrow bridge collided yesterday, killing at least 14 passengers and injuring 22.

Researcher Raps Federal Education Aid Propaganda

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Roger A. Freeman, who directed research for a presidential study of education, today accused the backers of federal aid plans of frightening the public with propaganda.

Federal aid to education would lead to federal controls, Freeman said, adding: "The direction in which we have been moving is bound to destroy in the end a system of government which has values far beyond the accomplishments of temporary advantages."

Freeman expressed his views in a 50-page booklet, "Federal Aid to Education—Boon or Bane?" This was put out by American Enterprise Assn., Inc., which describes itself as "a nonpartisan research organization which examines the implication of current and prospective legislative proposals."

100 YEARS YOUNG — Mrs. Alice D. Enos, mother of 13 children, celebrated her 100th birthday at Baltimore over the weekend. "But I don't feel like I'm a hundred," she said as she cut her birthday cake. President's Aide Discounts Effect Of Adlai's Blast

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 20 (AP)—A White House spokesman said today that Adlai E. Stevenson "probably had to say something for $100 a plate" when he criticized administration handling of U.S. foreign policy last night.

That was press secretary James C. Hagerty's comment when reporters asked him what he thought about Stevenson's speech at a $100-a-plate Democratic rally in Chicago. Stevenson is an announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

Hagerty followed up this comment on Stevenson's speech with an assertion that he doesn't know whether President Eisenhower will seek a second term. This was in response to a question about the President's plans.

Air Ferry Service Set Up

As Hagerty met with newsmen, the President rode around his snow-covered farm in a midsize automobile and made final plans for a review of foreign and military developments with the National Security Council tomorrow and with his Cabinet Tuesday.

The Air Force set up a 30-minute flying ferry service between the Pentagon in Washington and Eisenhower's Maryland mountain retreat to carry officials back and forth for the top-level conferences. Helicopters seating up to 20 passengers each will be used for the 75-mile trip.

Eisenhower plans to motor from his farm to Camp David, 25 miles away in the Catoclin Mountains near Thurmont, Md., for the first meetings he has had with either group since he was stricken with a heart attack in Denver on Sept. 24.

Gruenther Accompanies Ike

It will be the first over-all appraisal of America's position in the world picture since the break-up of the four-power foreign ministers conference in Geneva. Hagerty has said no unusual significance was to be attached to the meetings.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, commander of North Atlantic Treaty Forces in Paris, accompanied the President on the tour of the farm before leaving for Harrisburg where he planned to take off on his return to Europe.

M'Keldin Acts Before Court Ruling Asked

Gen. Reckord Plans
To Issue "Proper
Directives" Today

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin tonight directed that the Maryland National Guard be desegregated.

McKeldin in a letter to Maryland's Adjutant General Milton A. Reckord said:

"This . . . is a directive from me to you to initiate without delay all such steps as are necessary to bring an end to racial segregation in the organization of the Maryland National Guard."

McKeldin said "the awaiting of court action would result only in an unnecessary delay."

He said, "As you know I long have felt that this integration should be effectuated in the best interests of the State, the guard and the good morale of its entire membership."

Reckord To Issue Orders

General Reckord, asked for comment on the governor's directive, said: "Based on the recent rulings of the Supreme Court, I don't think he could do otherwise."

The general said he would "issue the proper directives tomorrow."

The effect of it, he said, might be "a smattering of enlistments." He added, "But I don't think it's going to make too much difference. I feel sure everybody will take it in stride."

A group of 15 Negro officers who formerly served in the Guard recently announced they planned to ask the Federal District Court to rule out segregation in the guard. One unit open to Negroes.

The 21st Truck Transportation Battalion in Baltimore is the only one of 38 guard units in Maryland open to Negroes, attorneys for the 15 officers said.

The 15 complained they were integrated with other regular Army units while on active duty in Korea but upon their return remained on inactive status rather than rejoin the segregated battalion.

They quoted Reckord as saying: "We have decided the efficiency of the National Guard will be maintained on a higher standard by continuing as we are and not permitting integration."

Their lawyers said they would ask the court to rule out segregation in the guard on that grounds it is "unconstitutional and without any reasonable justification."

Eden Talks With Ike Suggested

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Daily Mail urged Prime Minister Eden today to fly to Gettysburg, Pa., for talks with President Eisenhower.

The Mail, which strongly supports Eden's Conservative government declared that with the breakdown of the Geneva Big Four talks "a common policy has again become of critical importance."

Among other things, the newspaper said editorially, the two English-speaking nations should reconcile apparent differences in their Middle East policies.

"Sir Anthony should go to the United States as soon as he can—before the name-calling of election year," the Mail said.

"This is a time when the Jewish vote in the United States must be conciliated."

"So American support of Israel grows stronger—especially in the struggle with Arabia."

"British policy seems to favor the Arabs."

"That at least is interpretation of Mr. Ben-Gurion, the Jewish Prime Minister."

"Here is situation of grave danger with Britain apparently ranged on one side and America on the other."

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—A prominent New York City realtor shipped 1,081 turkeys today via parcel post to friends throughout the world. They average 20 pounds each.

Charles F. Noyes began the custom back in 1924 with a dozen turkeys and has added to the list each year.

"It's just a good will gesture, nothing else," he explained.

An Air Force spokesman said the C54 was identified positively as the plane missing since Thursday morning on a flight from Burbank, Calif., to the Nevada atom bomb testing grounds.

The 14 persons aboard, including five Air Force men, five AF civilian workers, two aviation engineers and two consultants, were found dead, the Air Force said.

The rescuers radioed that they expected to bring all of the bodies down to the Nellis Air Force Base rest camp at the 8,500-foot level by tonight. The bodies are to be taken to Nellis for identification by casualty identification officers.

Ex-Convict Hunted In Death Of Girl, 4

WEST GREENWICH, R.I., Nov. 20 (AP)—State police swore out a murder warrant today for a 29-year-old Massachusetts ex-convict wanted in connection with the death of a 4-year-old girl, whose body was discovered yesterday in a paint shed at the rear of her home.

A nationwide alarm was sent out for William Henry Crough of Waltham, Mass., who planned to marry the mother of pretty little Deborah Conlon in January.

Deborah's body was found wrapped in a white chenille bedspread in the shed shortly after her mother, Mrs. Beatrice Conlon, 30, a divorcee, reported her missing since Friday.

A note, purportedly left on the body by Crough, said the girl met with an accident on a swing and died while he was trying to give her artificial respiration. Because of his police record, the note said, Crough left fearing no one would believe him.

Globemaster Crash On Iwo Costs 10 Lives

One Man Survives
As Disaster Strikes
Big Plane On Takeoff

TOKYO, Monday, Nov. 21 (AP)—A giant Globemaster cargo plane of the U.S. Air Force crashed yesterday on take-off from typhoon-shattered Iwo Jima in the Western Pacific, killing 10 of the 11 persons aboard.

An Air Force spokesman said the huge C124 of the 374th Troop Carrier Wing crashed on the island as it took off on the return flight to its home base, Tachikawa Air Force Base near Tokyo, after a cargo-carrying mission.

The lone survivor was being airlifted to a hospital near Tokyo, the spokesman said.

Names of the nine crewmen and two passengers were withheld pending notification of next of kin. Details of the crash were not immediately available.

A board of officers was sent from Japan to investigate.

Iwo Jima, famed World War II battle site, is 700 miles southeast of Tokyo. Installations at the strategic U.S. base there were 99 per cent demolished by a typhoon only a month ago.

Double-Decked Plane

The Air Force said the four-engine, double-decked Globemaster crashed as it took off from Iwo Jima's small central air base at 5 p.m. yesterday—3 a.m. Sunday, EST.

The last Globemaster crash in the Far East occurred outside Tokyo on June 18, 1953, shortly before the signing of the Korean armistice. It killed 129 soldier-passengers and was the worst disaster in aviation history.

Globemasters are equipped to carry a maximum of 200 troops, or 74,000 pounds of cargo.

10 Persons Die In Fiery Auto Crash

WATERBURY, Neb., Nov. 20 (AP)—Ten persons, including six teenagers returning from a church party, were killed this evening in a two-car collision about 10 miles west of here.

The State Safety Patrol said the car containing the six young Nebraskaers apparently "blew a front tire" and it collided head-on with a car containing four persons from Illinois.

The Illinois car caught fire after the accident and only quick thinking by Henry Waltman, a trucker from Pierce, Neb., saved both cars from burning.

Waltman hooked his truck on the flaming Illinois car and pulled it down the highway away from the Nebraska vehicle.

Positive identification of the Illinois bodies was not immediately possible, due to their burned condition.

The Nebraska dead were identified by Sheriff Sam Curry as:

Rodney Hanks, Gary Stark, Robert Rakow, Perry Brook, Richard Rohn and Ronald Nobbe.

Sheriff Curry said the youths had been at a church social in nearby Laurel and were returning home. Capt. C. J. Sanders of the Nebraska Safety Patrol said he believed it was the worst highway accident in history in Nebraska.

Buses Collide, 14 Killed

MANILA, Monday, Nov. 21 (AP)—Two overloaded buses racing toward a narrow bridge collided yesterday, killing at least 14 passengers and injuring 22.

Researcher Raps Federal Education Aid Propaganda

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Roger A. Freeman, who directed research for a presidential study of education, today accused the backers of federal aid plans of frightening the public with propaganda.

Federal aid to education would lead to federal controls, Freeman said, adding: "The direction in which we have been moving is bound to destroy in the end a system of government which has values far beyond the accomplishments of temporary advantages."

Freeman expressed his views in a 50-page booklet, "Federal Aid to Education—Boon or Bane?" This was put out by American Enterprise Assn., Inc., which describes itself as "a nonpartisan research organization which examines the implication of current and prospective legislative proposals."

100 YEARS YOUNG — Mrs. Alice D. Enos, mother of 13 children, celebrated her 100th birthday at Baltimore over the weekend. "But I don't feel like I'm a hundred," she said as she cut her birthday cake. Mrs. Enos has outlived seven of her children. She holds a portrait of herself made when she was 16.

President's Aide Discounts Effect Of Adlai's Blast

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 20 (AP)—A White House spokesman said today that Adlai E. Stevenson "probably had to say something for $100 a plate" when he criticized administration handling of U.S. foreign policy last night.

That was press secretary James C. Hagerty's comment when reporters asked him what he thought about Stevenson's speech at a $100-a-plate Democratic rally in Chicago. Stevenson is an announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

Hagerty followed up this comment on Stevenson's speech with an assertion that he doesn't know whether President Eisenhower will seek a second term. This was in response to a question about the President's plans.

Air Ferry Service Set Up

As Hagerty met with newsmen, the President rode around his snow-covered farm in a midsize-type automobile and made final plans for a review of foreign and military developments with the National Security Council tomorrow and with his Cabinet Tuesday.

The Air Force set up a 30-minute flying ferry service between the Pentagon in Washington and Eisenhower's Maryland mountain retreat to carry officials back and forth for the top-level conferences. Helicopters seating up to 20 passengers each will be used for the 75-mile trip.

Eisenhower plans to motor from his farm to Camp David, 25 miles away in the Catoctin Mountains near Thurmont, Md., for the first meetings he has had with either group since he was stricken with a heart attack in Denver on Sept. 24.

Gruenther Accompanies Ike

It will be the first over-all appraisal of America's position in the world picture since the break-up of the four-power foreign ministers conference in Geneva. Hagerty has said no unusual significance was to be attached to the meetings.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces in Paris, accompanied the President on the tour of the farm before leaving for Harrisburg where he planned to take off on his return to Europe.

M'Keldin Acts Before Court Ruling Asked

Gen. Reckord Plans
To Issue "Proper
Directives" Today

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin tonight directed that the Maryland National Guard be desegregated.

McKeldin in a letter to Maryland's Adjutant General Milton A. Reckord said:

"This... is a directive from me to you to initiate without delay all such steps as are necessary to bring an end to racial segregation in the organization of the Maryland National Guard."

McKeldin said "the awaiting of court action would result only in an unnecessary delay..."

He said, "As you know I long have felt that this integration should be effectuated in the best interests of the State, the guard and the good morale of its entire membership."

Reckord To Issue Orders

General Reckord, asked for comment on the governor's directive, said: "Based on the recent rulings of the Supreme Court, I don't think he could do otherwise."

The general said he would "issue the proper directives tomorrow."

The effect of it, he said, might be "a smattering of enlistments." He added, "But I don't think it's going to make too much difference. I feel sure everybody will take it in stride."

A group of 15 Negro officers who formerly served in the Guard recently announced they planned to ask the Federal District Court to rule out segregation in the guard. One Unit Open To Negroes

The 231st Truck Transportation Battalion in Baltimore is the only one of 38 guard units in Maryland open to Negroes, attorneys for the 15 officers said.

The 15 complained they were integrated with other regular Army units while on active duty in Korea but upon their return remained on inactive status rather than rejoin the segregated battalion.

They quoted Reckord as saying: "We have decided the efficiency of the National Guard will be maintained on a higher standard by continuing as we are and not permitting integration."

Their lawyers said they would ask the court to rule out segregation in the guard on that grounds it is "unconstitutional and without any reasonable justification."

Eden Talks With Ike Suggested

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Daily Mail urged Prime Minister Eden today to fly to Gettysburg, Pa., for talks with President Eisenhower.

The Mail, which strongly supports Eden's Conservative government, declared that with the breakdown of the Geneva Big Four talks "a common policy has again become of critical importance."

Among other things, the newspaper said editorially, the two English-speaking nations should reconcile apparent differences in their Middle East policies.

"Sir Anthony should go to the United States as soon as he can—before the name-calling of election year," the Mail said.

"This is a time when the Jewish vote in the United States must be conciliated."

"So American support of Israel grows stronger—especially in the struggle with Arabia."

"British policy seems to favor the Arabs."

"That at least is interpretation of Mr. Ben-Gurion, the Jewish Prime Minister."

"Here is situation of grave danger with Britain apparently ranged on one side and America on the other."

Realtor Ships 1,081 Turkeys To Friends

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—A prominent New York City realtor shipped 1,081 turkeys today via parcel post to friends throughout the world. They average 20 pounds each.

Charles F. Noyes began the custom back in 1924 with a dozen turkeys and has added to the list each year.

"It's just a good will gesture, nothing else," he explained.

Among those who will receive the free turkeys this year are President Eisenhower, former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, novelist Fannie Hurst, president Walter O'Malley of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Charm Sets High Standards

To be remembered is a heart-warming thing, especially if it's unexpected. To be greeted with pleasure and by name by someone you met only once—to hear from a long distant friend—to receive good wishes on an important occasion from an unlooked for source.

There may be nothing seriously against anyone who half remembers names, or who overlooks opportunities to be friendly or appreciative. But that's not the sort of person you want to be—not if you want to be a charmer. Charm sets high standards for your relations with others, and sets them higher than mere compliance with the demands of courtesy. You speak the generous word no one else thinks to say, write the gracious note no etiquette books says you must write, perform the small, unexpected service.

Charm always seems to be effortless, and in the larger sense it is. Because although the charming person goes out of his way as others do not, his prompting is more nearly unconscious than conscious—it comes from the inside. But many charming persons do prompt themselves in one way—take out double insurance—with a

'Housewarming' Attracts Crowd

More than 6,000 persons attended the "housewarming" which the Second National Bank held Saturday in order that the public could inspect its new quarters.

The line of persons stretched for the greater portion of the Baltimore Street block between Centre and Liberty, and City Police Officer John Snyder was detailed to keep the line close to the buildings in order that it would not interfere with other pedestrians and shoppers.

At the 4 p. m. closing time, exactly 6,181 individuals had been "clocked" by a bank employee who was keeping check of the number of persons entering to tour the new facilities. A breakdown of the total shows an average of 1,236 persons had entered during each hour of inspection.

Persons who toured the bank had an opportunity to sign for a number of prizes, and a bank spokesman said the drawings will be made and announced today following a meeting of Second National officials.

'Wee Droppe' May Ease Leg Pains Of Older Patients

By FRANK CAREY

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 20 (AP)—Moderate alcohol drinking may help elderly people suffering from intermittent "cramps" of the legs, but doctors have to think of patients who are teetotalers or alcoholics, the Southern Medical Assn. was told recently.

A blood vessel condition of the legs known as "intermittent claudication," in which blood vessels that have been narrowed by age result in cramp-like pains during physical effort, was described by Dr. Wingate Johnson of Winston Salem, N. C. He told the closing session of the SMA 49th annual meeting:

"This may cause so much pain in the calf muscles after the patient has walked a variable distance that he is forced to stop and rest."

He said, "It is essential for the patient to stop smoking altogether"—because nicotine acts as a constrictor of blood vessels—but added:

"As partial compensation for this deprivation, however, he may be allowed to take an ounce or two of whisky or brandy three times a day since alcohol is one of the best vaso dilators—dilators of blood vessels—available."

"Priscoline or a xathine derivative, such as aminophylline, may be substituted for alcoholic beverages if the patient is a teetotaler, or an alcoholic."

The physician said that "intermittent claudication" is more common among men than women.

Elsewhere in his talks, which dealt with problem of blood circulation in persons over 60, the doctor said:

"The pathologists have offered what is, to men of my age, an encouraging observation—namely that cerebral arteriosclerosis—narrowing of blood vessels supplying the brain—does not necessarily produce a corresponding degree of mental deterioration.

"It is possible for an individual who has always maintained wide interests and has kept his mind active to carry on in spite of extensive cerebral arteriosclerosis.

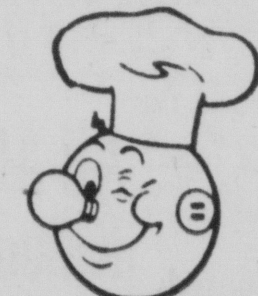

"Sooner or later, however, some degree of mental deterioration is inevitable in anyone who lives long enough."

Two More Convicts Flee From Dartmoor

DARTMOOR, England, Nov. 20 (AP)—Two Dartmoor convicts skipped tonight, making three escapes in three days from a prison reputed to be the toughest in Britain from which to escape.

Harry Levin, 29, and Derek Noddings, 27, climbed out of the prison dairy and made off across the fog-shrouded moors.

Cyril Bond, 32, fled Friday by arranging to have a taxicab pick him up from a working party outside the walls. A prison officer has been charged with aiding his escape.

Former Area Man Killed In Auto Crash

A former resident of the Short Gap section was killed instantly when the car in which he was riding plunged into the rear of a tractor-trailer being towed east by a pickup truck on U. S. 40 near Ellicott City.

State Trooper John Crout of the Randallstown Barracks identified him as Ernest Ray Ross, 37, of RD 3, Hagerstown.

Injured was his brother, Charles Robert Ross, also of Hagerstown, who was treated in Frederick Memorial Hospital for cuts about his face.

State Police said they did not know who was driving the 1940 auto in which the Ross brothers were heading east on 40.

The right side of their car ran into the rear of a disabled tractor-trailer being hauled by a half-ton pickup truck.

Ross was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. George E. Burgtors, Howard County medical examiner.

Ross was born in Delaware, the son of the late Clarence T. and Alice Cora (Keim) Ross. He was a former resident of the Short Gap section.

He is survived by two daughters, Cora Lee Ross of Akron; and Jean Ross of Frostburg, and one son, Samuel Ross of Akron.

He also leaves three sisters, Mrs.

James Dolly, Burlington, W. Va.; Mrs. Roy Burkett, this city; and Mrs. James Lewis, Short Gap; two other brothers, Sgt. Henry N. Ross, Fort Meade, and Melvin L. Ross, Winchester, and a half brother, Melvin Keim, Front Royal.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home, this city, where services will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p. m. by Rev. Lehman L. Longenecker. Burial will be in Pinto Mennonite Cemetery.

"This may cause so much pain in the calf muscles after the patient has walked a variable distance that he is forced to stop and rest."

He said, "It is essential for the patient to stop smoking altogether"—because nicotine acts as a constrictor of blood vessels—but added:

"As partial compensation for this deprivation, however, he may be allowed to take an ounce or two of whisky or brandy three times a day since alcohol is one of the best vaso dilators—dilators of blood vessels—available."

"Priscoline or a xathine derivative, such as aminophylline, may be substituted for alcoholic beverages if the patient is a teetotaler, or an alcoholic."

The physician said that "intermittent claudication" is more common among men than women.

Elsewhere in his talks, which dealt with problem of blood circulation in persons over 60, the doctor said:

"The pathologists have offered what is, to men of my age, an encouraging observation—namely that cerebral arteriosclerosis—narrowing of blood vessels supplying the brain—does not necessarily produce a corresponding degree of mental deterioration."

"It is possible for an individual who has always maintained wide interests and has kept his mind active to carry on in spite of extensive cerebral arteriosclerosis."

"Sooner or later, however, some degree of mental deterioration is inevitable in anyone who lives long enough."

Two More Convicts Flee From Dartmoor

DARTMOOR, England, Nov. 20 (AP)—Two Dartmoor convicts skipped tonight, making three escapes in three days from a prison reputed to be the toughest in Britain from which to escape.

Harry Levin, 29, and Derek Noddings, 27, climbed out of the prison dairy and made off across the fog-shrouded moors.

Cyril Bond, 32, fled Friday by arranging to have a taxicab pick him up from a working party outside the walls. A prison officer has been charged with aiding his escape.

Former Area Man Killed In Auto Crash

A former resident of the Short Gap section was killed instantly when the car in which he was riding plunged into the rear of a tractor-trailer being towed east by a pickup truck on U. S. 40 near Ellicott City.

State Trooper John Crout of the Randallstown Barracks identified him as Ernest Ray Ross, 37, of RD 3, Hagerstown.

Injured was his brother, Charles Robert Ross, also of Hagerstown, who was treated in Frederick Memorial Hospital for cuts about his face.

State Police said they did not know who was driving the 1940 auto in which the Ross brothers were heading east on 40.

The right side of their car ran into the rear of a disabled tractor-trailer being hauled by a half-ton pickup truck.

Ross was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. George E. Burgtors, Howard County medical examiner.

Ross was born in Delaware, the son of the late Clarence T. and Alice Cora (Keim) Ross. He was a former resident of the Short Gap section.

He is survived by two daughters, Cora Lee Ross of Akron; and Jean Ross of Frostburg, and one son, Samuel Ross of Akron.

He also leaves three sisters, Mrs.

James Dolly, Burlington, W. Va.; Mrs. Roy Burkett, this city; and Mrs. James Lewis, Short Gap; two other brothers, Sgt. Henry N. Ross, Fort Meade, and Melvin L. Ross, Winchester, and a half brother, Melvin Keim, Front Royal.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home, this city, where services will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p. m. by Rev. Lehman L. Longenecker. Burial will be in Pinto Mennonite Cemetery.

Commission Urges Revamping Of SRC

Dept. Of State Roads With Single Director Proposed By Group

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—A special commission says Maryland should set up a Department of State Roads under a single director and abolish the present three-man State Roads Commission.

The report said that in the field of public relations—among others—the present commission set-up has proved to be an “administrative failure.”

The 79-page printed report of the Commission on State Programs, Organization and Finance said:

“There should be an office of public relations reporting directly to the director, Department of State Roads,” the commission recommended. “It should engage in an active program of informing the press, the public and the employees of roads plans, progress and problems.”

The roads commission’s present public relations program “is more passive than active despite the tremendous impact it is having on the people of Maryland,” the report said.

“In the State Roads Commission there is no planned program of public reporting . . . there is no ‘house organ’ or other device to keep employees informed and build their public relations potential. The meetings of the State Roads Commission do not meet the convenience of the press . . . There is no avenue to the mass of citizens to whom the roads are a source of livelihood and pleasure.

“The public relations program is now guided by an independent contractor with two girls and a photographer. This may be an adequate staff but the program is inadequate and unintegrated with the everyday operation of the commission. Modern techniques are not employed. . . .”

The commission began its study of the SRC in July at the request of Gov. McKeldin when he was being badgered by Democratic members of the General Assembly to put up the money for an investigation of the roads commission.

The Republican governor already had a panel of “efficiency experts” under the chairmanship of Harry J. Green, Baltimore attorney, McKeldin told them to make the roads commission their first order of business.

The report is the result of that study and despite its criticisms, the Green Commission reported:

“With some few exceptions, the quality of road construction has been considered adequate. . . .”

“Basically, the State Roads Commission is an engineering organization and the engineering it does . . . is usually well done. . . .”

“Despite the freedom accorded the State Roads Commission in the field of administration, it is here and not in its road building that it has failed most sharply.”

Slide In Huge Open Pit Mine Kills One

RUTH, Nev., Nov. 20 (AP)—Millions of tons of earth tumbled into the bottom of Kennecott Copper Co.’s huge open pit mine here yesterday, killing one worker and injuring two others.

The massive slide started at the rim of the pit and plunged more than 500 feet to the bottom, completely covering a large truck and other equipment.

Bomb ‘War’ Continues

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Nov. 20 (AP)—Cypriot terrorists continued their bombing “war” against Britons today. A grenade was thrown at the house of Robert Ashe, garrison engineer at Famagusta, while he and his family were inside. The explosion shattered windows but caused no casualties. A woman who was passing the house at the time was detained for questioning.

FREED BY REDS — Arriving in Hong Kong (above), the Rev. Marcellus White, 47, Waltham, Mass., declared his life was threatened by Communist jailers. The American missionary was released after four years’ imprisonment in Red China.

Freedom Near For La Prensa

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Nov. 20 (AP)—Authoritative circles predict this will be the week that the newspaper La Prensa will regain its freedom after four years of Peronist control.

A key member of the Cabinet of Provisional President Pedro Aramburu said without qualification that the big daily, once noted for its independence, will be returned to its owners, the Paz family, “very soon.”

Maj. Francisco Sanchez, Aramburu’s newly appointed “interventor” (administrator) of the paper, declared, “There is a tendency within the government to return La Prensa soon to its rightful owners.”

Maj. Sanchez, on the fourth anniversary of the appearance of La Prensa under control of the Peron-run General Confederation of Labor (CGT), erased from its masthead the CGT slogan saying the newspaper was in its “fourth year.”

He restored the traditional subtitle, “Founded on Oct. 18, 1869.”

The major’s action caused a protest from former employees of La Prensa, who complained his numbering of yesterday’s issue as the 30,901st included issues published under CGT. They said this “misleads” the public into thinking there had been continuity of publication of the same newspaper which was silenced by toppled dictator Juan D. Peron on Jan. 26, 1951.

Numerous Agencies Probe Stock Buying

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Senate investigators reported today that numerous agencies are cooperating in an effort to measure the extent of common stock buying by insurance companies, pension funds and trusts.

The inquiry is an echo of the stock market investigation made earlier this year by Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) and the Senate Banking Committee.

When the committee issued its report in May, Democrats and Republicans differed widely on the purpose and findings of the inquiry.

Since then the stock market has continued to climb above the high marks that brought warnings from some that another 1929 boom-and-bust cycle might be ahead.

Mahoney Might Have Clear Field With Miles Out

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Now that Clarence Miles has given the U. S. Senate race a resolute cold shoulder, many of his Democratic followers are wondering if that leaves a clear field to George Mahoney.

And worrying, no doubt. For the possibility that Miles would seek the nomination had been talked up enthusiastically among Democrats who would like to block Mahoney, a veteran campaigner, from another nomination.

Miles, a prominent Baltimore attorney who stepped down Friday as president of the Baltimore Orioles, threw cold water on the speculation Saturday when he said flatly he would not be a candidate.

He said, “My decision has been reached in the light of some very recent professional commitments.” He also attributed it to “certain important civic activities in which I am vitally interested and in deference to the very definite wishes of my family.”

Mahoney was left as the nearest thing to a willing candidate.

He told the Lake Shore Democratic Club in nearby Anne Arundel County last night he wasn’t ready to announce his plans because “I do not think such an announcement would be in the best interests of the Democratic Party right now.”

At the same time, he said the Democrats can realize success in 1956 with “a united hardworking party organization plus a candidate who will appeal to the great mass of the voters.”

He noted that 406,370 persons voted for him for senator in 1952, “giving me the largest vote any Democrat ever received for any office in the history of Maryland.” Despite the big vote, he lost to J. Glenn Beall in that year’s Republican sweep under the Eisenhower banner.

Highway Safety ‘365 Days Of Year’ Urged By Nixon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Vice President Nixon, in a statement on traffic safety, today urged all citizens to “walk safely and drive safely 365 days of the year.”

Nixon’s statement was in connection with the start of a three-week tally of traffic deaths throughout the United States for the second annual S-D Day—Safe Driving Day—observance Dec. 1.

“Thursday, Dec. 1, does not mean that we try to drive safely that day alone,” Nixon said. “It should mean to all of us that we will not only avoid accidents on that day, but that we will try to avoid them every day.”

Carpenter Uses Hatchet To Kill Mother-In-Law

TAVERNIER, Fla., Nov. 20 (AP)—A 37-year-old carpenter used a hatchet today to kill his paralyzed mother-in-law, seriously wound her husband and cut his young brother-in-law.

Peace Justice Ralph Cunningham said Conklyn Meriwether wielded the hatchet in a rage while his wife and three children fled their home.

Dead was Mrs. Charles N. Mills, who had been confined to a wheelchair for nine years. Her husband was hospitalized in critical condition and their son, Paul, 16, was treated for head injuries.

Fund President Hits Red Charge

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Robert M. Hutchins labeled “absurd” tonight charges that the Fund for the Republic is soft toward communism or undermining the security of the U.S. government.

Hutchins, president of the organization, said the Fund considers communism the most serious menace to civil liberties in the United States. On the other hand, he said, the Fund is opposed to “blacklisting” individuals through guilt by association without due process of law.

Interviewed on a TV-radio program — NBC — “Meet the Press,” —Hutchins declined to say point blank whether the Fund would or would not hire a known Communist. Under persistent questioning on the point, he insisted that each individual must be considered on his merits.

Hutchins defined the fund as an educational organization dedicated to teaching the American people about civil liberties, “to make the Bill of Rights living document today.” He said it was “not a propaganda agency of any kind.”

The Fund has drawn fire from the American Legion and other groups. Much of today’s interview dealt with criticism by Seaborn P. Collins, former legion commander, who said in September that the fund threatened national security.

Mother Of 13 Marks Her 100th Birthday

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Mrs. Alice D. Enos, mother of 13 children, celebrated her 100th birthday last night.

“But I don’t feel like I’m a hundred,” she said as she delicately brushed back a whisp of snowy white hair.

As she cut her birthday cake she said merrily:

“I’ll never be 100 again and I might as well admit my age.”

Mrs. Enos, who spent some of her childhood in Civil War Richmond, actually was 100 on Friday. She celebrated her birthday last night at the home of a son, one of her six living children. Also helping her celebrate were seven grand children, two great-grandchildren and many friends.

GOP Chairman Says Stevenson ‘Talking Bunk’

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee said tonight Adlai Stevenson is “talking bunk” in his attacks on the Eisenhower administration.

Stevenson, who is seeking the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, said in a speech at Chicago last night the administration offers a shaky peace, deceptive prosperity and no progress.

Hall said Stevenson’s kickoff speech “made it clear why he was repudiated by the voters so completely in 1952 that he could carry only nine states.”

Stevenson was the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee.

“The defeated Democrat standard bearer was up to his usual form,” Hall said. “His speech was reminiscent of his first unsuccessful campaign.”

Stevenson declared that “today most Americans dwell upon the plateau of prosperity which the Republicans inherited from us” but he argued that the well-being of 20 million Americans on farms “is sinking while the Republican cheer leaders shout: ‘Everything is booming but the guns.’”

To this Hall retorted: “Stevenson’s attack on an administration that has an all-time record of 65 million Americans working at the best jobs they ever had an enjoying the highest standard of living known to man, will get him absolutely nowhere.”

The people know he is talking bunk. . . . Hall said Stevenson has “nothing but sneers for the peace and prosperity of this administration.”

New Reserve Program Is Off To Bad Start

The new Army reserve program adopted by Congress early this year is off to a bad start. The Reserve Forces Act was intended to provide 10,000 teen-age volunteers a month, who would go into active training for six months and then spend seven and one-half years in the active reserves. But volunteers are few, and many are reported to be of low mental and physical qualifications.

Plans had been made for 5,000 in the initial group to start training at five Army posts October 1. The 10,000-a-month rate was to be reached later. But only 1,200 volunteered. A high percentage of these, according to press reports, were illiterate, and many others were scrawny and underweight.

It is obvious that the United States cannot get along without a large supply of military manpower in the foreseeable future. Men who are drafted face two full years of service, possibly overseas, after which they, too, go into the reserves and are called on to take frequent refresher courses or training.

It was expected that many would volunteer for six months to escape being drafted for two years. Perhaps this selling point hasn't been sufficiently publicized, and the quality and number of volunteers will rise when the word spreads.

No doubt the fallacious delusion that the cold war is ended into which the country permitted itself to be propagandized has played a part in the low number of volunteers under the reserve program. But all realistic appraisals of the international situation result in the conclusion that the need for manpower will continue as great as in the recent past.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
Atoms For Peace

The human race needs to recognize that the hydrogen bomb can destroy the world and all that is on it. There is no practical limit to the size of the bomb except the method of conveying it and that can be solved by engineering.

The data we have been given to date are difficult to read and understand unless one is a specialist. The whole matter is surrounded by security rules which in no manner fool the scientist and engineer who can understand the facts. The layman is caught by such words as "disaster." What is a disaster? Where does it happen and how?

We are given a new word, "fall-out." What does "fall-out" mean? How long does it take? One reads and reads and is profoundly puzzled when he is told that a fall-out might take 10 years. In other words, a hydrogen bomb exploded in 1955 can still be doing damage in 1965. And where is it doing the damage? Anywhere. Literally anywhere or everywhere.

And what is it that does the damage? Apparently the main danger comes from a devilish stuff called radio-active strontium, which is a metallic element of the calcium group, and which mixes freely with calcium, so that it can destroy bones in man and beast. It is such a fine, powdery substance that it does not come down quickly as heavier particles of metals do, but circulates slowly in the atmosphere, falling-out slowly and coming down anywhere. No one can say that a particular target is shot at. The world is the target.

I make no pretensions at knowing chemistry but political manifestations are my business and I must ask whether radio-active strontium is a proper weapon of war? If the United States and Soviet Russia are at war and they fire weapons at each other on a particular day, the immediate effects take place that day and they do not occur in neutral territory. That is not true about radio-active strontium.

Why is it so difficult to get at current knowledge on this subject? How much of it was exchanged at the Atoms for Peace Conference at Geneva? If our scientists and the Russian scientists talked about radio-active strontium, why is it kept secret from the American people? After all, since Klaus Fuchs and the Rosenberg gang stole our secrets at the Manhattan Project, what secrets do we really have? Will it be necessary to read Russian publications to discover what we are doing here in the United States?

There is another question that needs to be asked in all seriousness. Only one man in the United States has the authority to order the use of this horrible weapon. That man is the President of the United States. We have recently witnessed the spectacle of a president of the United States laid low by a coronary thrombosis. He was not in a condition for days to issue an order of this magnitude, nor could his authority constitutionally be transferred to anyone else with sufficient speed to affect any situation involving great immediate danger to millions of lives.

Would it not be expedient for President Eisenhower jointly with the Congress to appoint a special commission of outstanding jurists to study the ramifications of this problem? One can view the matter sentimentally and say that a delightful person as President Eisenhower ought not to be embarrassed by such a question; or one can view it realistically and say that we live in a disturbed era when anything can happen; that men not restrained by conventional morals have been hurled to the summit of states by revolutions and that in their hands are weapons which can destroy the world; that as long as the President, a mortal man, is the only one among 165,000,000 Americans with authority to use the bombs even defensively, we must be protected from the dangers that can beset mortal man.

Such a realistic approach to the problem must recognize heart attacks, diabetic comas and similar disabilities as possible and politically dangerous. It may be said that the vice president could quickly be co-opted, but Mr. Truman, in his memoirs, admits that at the moment that he succeeded President Roosevelt, he knew nothing about the best kept secret.

Under our system of continuous government, we may be caught in the trap of excessive secrecy.

"Have A Good Trip"

Adlai Has A Week, But It's Not Too Successful

CHICAGO

This last week in Chicago has been, of course, very much Adlai Stevenson's week. He has been front and center, while his two chief rivals, Averell Harriman and Estes Kefauver, to their visible annoyance, have been cast as supporting players, pecking shyly out from the wings.

Yet Stevenson's week has not been a complete success all the same. Stevenson has one great central problem as a political leader. After a time, the American public develops a mental image, which is often more caricature than faithful portrait, of any leading American politician. With a lot of help from Stevenson's enemies, and a good deal of help from Stevenson himself, the public image of Stevenson is beginning to be that of an intelligent but indecisive man, honest but uncertain.

Failed In Objective

Such a public image of Stevenson could be politically fatal. Therefore, as many of his friends and supporters are well aware, his first objective must be to smash the image, and replace it with an image of confidence and decision. Stevenson could have begun to smash the image last week. But he failed to do so.

On the contrary, the image of uncertainty has been strengthened. To all questions about his plans for primaries, other than Minnesota, Stevenson answered that he had not made up his mind. He even replied that he had not decided when asked whether he would go into Minnesota to campaign.

The fact is that Stevenson is not only undecided in his own mind about his political strategy, he has also been receiving divided counsel. One group of advisers, which includes men like Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago and Barry Birmingham, the able publisher who is to head the Volunteers for Stevenson, favors a bold course. Another group, whose leader appears to be the newly appointed Stevenson manager, James Finnegan, favors a policy of minimum risk.

The problem of Kefauver and the primaries typifies the difference between the two groups, and the conflict in Stevenson's own mind. Aside from the possibility of the emergence of a candidate acceptable to the whole South (and the suggestion that Sen. Lyndon Johnson might run despite his heart attack causes the Stevenson men to start back in horror) there is only one real obstacle to Stevenson's nomination. That is the risk of being beaten in an important primary by Estes Kefauver.

By Stewart Alsop

The advocates of boldness want to meet this danger head-on. They claim that their man can clobber Kefauver anywhere. They may even favor Stevenson taking on Kefauver in the New Hampshire primaries, where Kefauver beat Harry S. Truman in 1952. Knock Kefauver out in New Hampshire, argue the bold men, and the whole story is told—Stevenson can stop worrying about August and concentrate on November. Above all, Stevenson will stand out as the confident candidate, willing to take on all comers.

The advocates of caution argue, no doubt with good reason, that it

Early Announcement By Stevenson Was Given Push By Harry Truman

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The man who had a great deal to do with nudging Adlai Stevenson out in front—though Adlai may not know it—is that pastmaster politician from Missouri, Harry S. Truman.

Mr. Truman, who enjoys playing politics just about as much as he does playing the piano, has been sitting behind the scenes calling the tunes of the Democratic party almost as he rattles the Missouri Waltz off the keys of his piano.

His strategy was to get the political pot boiling early, to force Stevenson into battle so people could get better acquainted with him; also so Republican operations would be vigorously challenged. He remembered all too well how he had sat on one end of the telephone in Washington waiting word from Chicago as to whether Adlai would or wouldn't run; or whether he, Truman, would have to accept Kefauver, whom he didn't like; or Barkley, who was too old; or Harriman, who was not an experienced candidate.

Truman went through some of the most nervous moments of his political life waiting for Adlai to make up his mind, and he didn't want it to happen again.

That was why he stopped in to spend an evening with Governor Harriman at Albany last month and then gave a press conference in which he made sounds as if Harriman might be his candidate.

That was also why he has been much nicer to Kefauver of late, and has given indications that Kefauver would be acceptable to him in '56.

Actually Truman wanted Stevenson to run all the time. But Stevenson was hanging back, not is silly to risk a serious set-back for Stevenson in a small-heavily Republican state where all the cards are stacked in Kefauver's favor. The issue is still unsettled, and before it is decided, some discreet pulse-feeling will be undertaken in New Hampshire. But unless it is found that New Hampshire pulses are fairly racing for Stevenson, the advocates of caution are likely to have their way.

Meanwhile, the whole Stevenson strategy is in danger of falling between two stools. Even Stevenson's most cautious advisers agree that risks are going to have to be taken sooner or later—otherwise Stevenson will be accused of ducking a fight. There is no one in the Stevenson entourage, for example, who doubts that Stevenson will have to enter the California primary, and probably at least one or two others as well.

Didn't Smash Image

Yet Stevenson has failed to take credit even for the risks he is certainly going to have to run. His announcement that he would go into Minnesota, where his victory is supposedly assured, and which everyone had known about for weeks, was greeted, with bored yawns. But if he had announced that he was going into California too he would have grabbed headlines all over the country, and stood forth as the happy, confident warrior.

Instead, he said that he had not made up his mind about California either. Thus, quite unnecessarily, the public image of Stevenson as the man with the unmade mind was strengthened rather than weakened during the last week. Soon, before it is too late, Stevenson must find a way to smash sure when he should announce, not too anxious to take an early plunge.

Finally, as he saw Kefauver and Harriman getting into the picture and realized that early work by them could line up delegates that he couldn't retrieve later, he decided to get into the fight early—much earlier than the average candidate announces.

So Mr. Truman, who took off the gloves for Adlai in 1952 but whose worthwhile remarks weren't always appreciated by Adlai, got his way.

More Outside Interests

Two more possible conflict-of-interest cases have cropped up inside the Eisenhower administration on the heels of the resignation of Peter Strobel, Secretary of the Air Force Talbott, and the expose of Adolph Wenzell's work for Dixon-Yates inside the Budget Bureau.

One of the new cases is that of Interstate Commerce Commission Chairman Hugh Cross, Republican, already under investigation by the Senate Government Operations Committee.

The other is a possible conflict of interest by Walter Berger, deputy administrator of commodity stabilizations and vice president of the Commodity Credit Corporation which handles the tremendous crop surpluses.

Berger owns stock in the Shea Chemical Corporation of Baltimore, a firm which sells fertilizer or fertilizer ingredients, in some cases through the Agriculture Department of which Berger is an important official.

Berger, when interviewed, said that he had become chief executive of the Shea Chemical Corp. A little over two years ago on a five-year contract, and when he entered the Agriculture Department the company bought up his contract with an agreement that it would get first option on his services when he leaves the government.

Retained Stock

He admitted, however, that he had kept his stock, originally 580 shares. However, the stock has been split and Berger said he did not know how much his 580 shares had multiplied.

The retention of this stock is contrary to the policy laid down by Congress for other government officials, among them Secretary of Defense Wilson, if their firms do business with the government. Wilson, accordingly, sold his General Motors stock.

The Shea Chemical Corp. Has done business with the Agriculture Department, though Berger claimed he had kept strictly aloof from his company's transactions. He admitted his company had sold limestone from a limestone quarry at Adams, Mass., to the Agriculture Department, though he said it was distributed through farmers for use on their land and he was in no way involved.

He also admitted that the Shea company sells phosphorus and other ingredients to several fertilizer companies. Though the Agriculture Department helped arrange a triple barter deal for Korea and Austria in which some American fertilizer was purchased, he maintained that he had nothing to do with it.

Berger was president of the Des Moines Cat Products Company from 1936 to 1948, was president of the American Feed Manufacturers Association, became executive vice president of the Shea Chemical Corp., in 1952.

Cross Interceded

In the case of ICC Chairman Cross, he has admitted behind closed doors that he telephoned the presidents of railroads entering Chicago on behalf of the Keeshin Transport System, which wanted to take the 102-year-old contract away from Parmalee Bus for transferring baggage and passengers between Chicago terminals.

John Keeshin, head of the Keeshin Company, which later formed the Railroad Transfer Service, is a friend of Cross's. Cross admitted to senators that he had no business meddling in the case since it was not an interstate matter, being solely concerned with the city of Chicago.

His power with the railroads is great and his interference may have influenced the contract award to Keeshin.

Chairman Cross denied that he was offered a job by the Keeshin concern, though he admits discussing possible employment with the company long before the Parmalee contract came up.

NOTE—What the senators really ought to investigate is the part Cross played in the battle between the New York Central and Robert R. Young with Texas oil allies.

School Costs

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass.—So many letters come to me, from both teachers and taxpayers, that I would like this week to answer them all in this column in an impartial manner.

Teachers Deserve More Salaries

Let me start out by saying that my sympathies are distinctly with the school teachers and especially with the school principals. It is true that truck drivers are getting more pay than school teachers. Morally this seems unjust, but the fact is that the employers have substituted motors for horses and big trucks for wagons. These trucks carry as much in a day as the old horses and wagons carried in a week. In other words, the employers have adopted methods which enable the truck drivers to have increased wages.

Painters today are paid double what they were 20 years ago; but employers have adopted sprayers in place of brushes. Carpenters are getting double; but the employers are supplying them with electric saws instead of hand saws. The school committees and the city fathers, on the other hand, have not done much of anything to help the teachers do more efficient work. As an employer, I pay my typists double what I used to pay them; but with electric typewriters and other machinery they give me double the work. The doctor costs us more a visit; but he is making us live longer. Hard-covered books cost more; but we can get the same thing for half the price with paper covers. Radio, washing machines, and TVs have all improved in quality, and hence profit returns offset the wage increases.

Crazy Legislation Increases Costs

Let us consider who benefits from the increased costs of modern school buildings. Twenty per cent of this increased cost is due to unnecessary classroom space, glass windows, unused ventilation, and rules or regulations put through by labor unions and similar associations. Fifty per cent of the increased cost is due to plumbing, electrical work, modern kitchens, fancy gymnasiums, auditoriums to please the voters, not to improve education. Thirty per cent has been due to the increased costs of materials, of which Uncle Sam takes 52 per cent in taxes. In a general way, this also explains the increased costs of most houses. School committees, by catering to the voters, are largely responsible for these high-cost buildings. They should not make the teachers carry the burden of these costs by accepting low salaries.

The doctors are not only delivering better services for increased fees, but they are forming associations to conquer cancer, heart disease, and even polio. We, however, do not know of any PTA which is developing new systems of instruction to assure the teachers better salaries. We hear of very few cities where the classrooms are giving double service, with half of the students coming in the morning and the other half in the afternoon. We hear of experiments with radio and TV. Unfortunately, however, too few parents are interested in better teaching. Too many parents want to work outside the home, and use the schools for parking places for their children.

Awaits Research

Unfortunately, the teachers' future awaits some very important research. The schools are spending billions a year to park and lunch children, but—unlike our large industries—are spending very little on fundamental research. We understand the psychology of a cow better than the psychology of a child. Those who control education do not know the difference between a "brain" and a "mind." To say nothing about the probabilities of extrasensory perception and the use of numbers rather than sentences. Possibilities of the mind are tremendous. But teachers may be obliged to supplement their teaching by giving pupils prescribed diets, or new undiscovered drugs, or electric impulses. Education also may take an active interest in eugenics. As Sir George Thompson is reported to say, "What the brain can foresee presents the greatest promise that lies ahead." Surely, the time required for a conventional education will be cut 75 per cent, schools will graduate far more efficient pupils, and teachers will be paid what they are worth, or else they will be replaced by Univac machines.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

The utterly unexpected success of one of those overblown, gaudy historical novels lifted its hitherto unknown author to sudden prominence. The spotlight and all the other trimmings proved a little too much for him. A more severe case of swell-headedness hasn't been seen on Publishers' Row in many a moon.

It remained for a pert young girl to set "the genius" back on his heels, however, when he granted her an interview for her school paper. She listened to his boasting without cracking a smile; then said softly, "Why, I'll bet you're just the greatest writer in America today!" The new literary lion contrived a modest look, and chided, "Haven't you forgotten Herringway, Faulkner, and O'Hara?"

"Oh, I wasn't thinking of you in that league," she told him—in front of a couple of mean, talk-telling associates, too. "They're really important writers!" That ended the interview.

New Reserve Program Is Off To Bad Start

The new Army reserve program adopted by Congress early this year is off to a bad start. The Reserve Forces Act was intended to provide 10,000 teen-age volunteers a month, who would go into active training for six months and then spend seven and one-half years in the active reserves. But volunteers are few, and many are reported to be of low mental and physical qualifications.

Plans had been made for 5,000 in the initial group to start training at five Army posts October 1. The 10,000-a-month rate was to be reached later. But only 1,200 volunteered. A high percentage of these, according to press reports, were illiterate, and many others were scrawny and underweight.

It is obvious that the United States cannot get along without a large supply of military manpower in the foreseeable future. Men who are drafted face two full years of service, possibly overseas, after which they, too, go into the reserves and are called on to take frequent refresher courses or training.

It was expected that many would volunteer for six months to escape being drafted for two years. Perhaps this selling point hasn't been sufficiently publicized, and the quality and number of volunteers will rise when the word spreads.

No doubt the fallacious delusion that the cold war is ended into which the country permitted itself to be propagandized has played a part in the low number of volunteers under the reserve program. But all realistic appraisals of the international situation result in the conclusion that the need for manpower will continue as great as in the recent past.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Atoms For Peace

The human race needs to recognize that the hydrogen bomb can destroy the world and all that is on it. There is no practical limit to the size of the bomb except the method of conveying it and that can be solved by engineering.

The data we have been given to date are difficult to read and understand unless one is a specialist. The whole matter is surrounded by security rules which in no manner fool the scientist and engineer who can understand the facts. The layman is caught by such words as "disaster." What is a disaster? Where does it happen and how?

We are given a new word, "fall-out." What does "fall-out" mean? How long does it take? One reads and reads and is profoundly puzzled when he is told that a fall-out might take 10 years. In other words, a hydrogen bomb exploded in 1955 can still be doing damage in 1965. And where is it doing the damage? Anywhere. Literally anywhere or everywhere.

And what is it that does the damage? Apparently the main danger comes from a devilish stuff called radio-active strontium, which is a metallic element of the calcium group, and which mixes freely with calcium, so that it can destroy bones in man and beast. It is such a fine, powdery substance that it does not come down quickly as heavier particles of metals do, but circulates slowly in the atmosphere, falling out slowly and coming down anywhere. No one can say that a particular target is shot at. The world is the target.

I make no pretensions at knowing chemistry but political manifestations are my business and I must ask whether radio-active strontium is a proper weapon of war? If the United States and Soviet Russia are at war and they fire weapons at each other on a particular day, the immediate effects take place that day and they do not occur in neutral territory. That is not true about radio-active strontium.

Why is it so difficult to get at current knowledge on this subject? How much of it was exchanged at the Atoms for Peace Conference at Geneva? If our scientists and the Russian scientists talked about radio-active strontium, why is it kept secret from the American people? After all, since Klaus Fuchs and the Rosenberg gang stole our secrets at the Manhattan Project, what secrets do we really have? Will it be necessary to read Russian publications to discover what we are doing here in the United States?

There is another question that needs to be asked in all seriousness. Only one man in the United States has the authority to order the use of this horrible weapon. That man is the President of the United States. We have recently witnessed the spectacle of a president of the United States laid low by a coronary thrombosis. He was not in a condition for days to issue an order of this magnitude, nor could his authority constitutionally be transferred to anyone else with sufficient speed to affect any situation involving great immediate danger to millions of lives.

Would it not be expedient for President Eisenhower jointly with the Congress to appoint a special commission of outstanding jurists to study the ramifications of this problem? One can view the matter sentimentally and say that a delightful person as President Eisenhower ought not to be embarrassed by such a question; or one can view it realistically and say that we live in a disturbed era when anything can happen; that men not restrained by conventional morals have been hurled to the summit of states by revolutions and that in their hands are weapons which can destroy the world; that as long as the President, a mortal man, is the only one among 165,000,000 Americans with authority to use the bombs even defensively, we must be protected from the dangers that can beset mortal man.

Such a realistic approach to the problem must recognize heart attacks, diabetic comas and similar disabilities as possible and politically dangerous. It may be said that the vice president could quickly be co-opted, but Mr. Truman, in his memoirs, admits that at the moment that he succeeded President Roosevelt, he knew nothing about the best kept secret.

Under our system of continuous government, we may be caught in the trap of excessive secrecy.

"Have A Good Trip"

Adlai Has A Week, But It's Not Too Successful

By Stewart Alsop

CHICAGO This last week in Chicago has been, of course, very much Adlai Stevenson's week. He has been front and center, while his two chief rivals, Averell Harriman and Estes Kefauver, to their visible annoyance, have been cast as supporting players, peeking shyly out from the wings.

Yet Stevenson's week has not been a complete success all the same. Stevenson has one great central problem as a political leader. After a time, the American public develops a mental image, which is often more caricature than faithful portrait, of any leading American politician. With a lot of help from Stevenson's enemies, and a good deal of help from Stevenson himself, the public image of Stevenson is beginning to be that of an intelligent but indecisive man, honest but uncertain.

Failed In Objective Such a public image of Stevenson could be politically fatal. Therefore, as many of his friends and supporters are well aware, his first objective must be to smash the image, and replace it with an image of confidence and decision. Stevenson could have begun to smash the image last week. But he failed to do so.

On the contrary, the image of uncertainty has been strengthened. To all questions about his plans for primaries, other than Minnesota, Stevenson answered that he had not made up his mind. He even replied that he had not decided when asked whether he would go into Minnesota to campaign.

The fact is that Stevenson is not only undecided in his own mind about his political strategy, he has also been receiving divided counsel. One group of advisers, which includes men like Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago and Barry Birmingham, the able publisher who is to head the Volunteers for Stevenson, favors a bold course. Another group, whose leader appears to be the newly appointed Stevenson manager, James Finnegan, favors a policy of minimum risk.

The problem of Kefauver and the primaries typifies the difference between the two groups, and the conflict in Stevenson's own mind. Aside from the possibility of the emergence of a candidate acceptable to the whole South, and the suggestion that Sen. Lyndon Johnson might run despite his heart attack causes the Stevenson men to start back in horror there is only one real obstacle to Stevenson's nomination. That is the risk of being beaten in an important primary by Estes Kefauver.

The advocates of boldness want to meet this danger head-on. They claim that their man can clobber Kefauver anywhere. They may even favor Stevenson taking on Kefauver in the New Hampshire primaries, where Kefauver beat Harry S. Truman in 1952. Knock Kefauver out in New Hampshire, argue the bold men, and the whole story is told—Stevenson can stop worrying about August and concentrate on November. Above all, Stevenson will stand out as the confident candidate, willing to take on all comers.

The advocates of caution argue, no doubt with good reason, that it

Early Announcement By Stevenson Was Given Push By Harry Truman

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The man who had a great deal to do with nudging Adlai Stevenson out in front—though Adlai may not know it—is that pastmaster politician from Missouri, Harry S. Truman.

Mr. Truman, who enjoys playing politics just about as much as he does playing the piano, has been sitting behind the scenes calling the tunes of the Democratic party almost as he rattles the Missouri Waltz off the keys of his piano.

His strategy was to get the political pot boiling early, to force Stevenson into battle so people could get better acquainted with him; also so Republican operations would be vigorously challenged. He remembered all too well how he had sat on one end of the telephone in Washington waiting word from Chicago as to whether Adlai would or wouldn't run; or whether he, Truman, would have to accept Kefauver, whom he didn't like; Barkley, who was too old; or Harriman, who was not an experienced candidate.

Truman went through some of the most nervous moments of his political life waiting for Adlai to make up his mind, and he didn't want it to happen again.

That was why he stopped in to spend an evening with Governor Harriman at Albany last month and then gave a press conference in which he made sounds as if Harriman might be his candidate. That was also why he has been much nicer to Kefauver of late, and has given indications that Kefauver would be acceptable to him in '56.

Actually Truman wanted Stevenson to run all the time. But Stevenson was hanging back, not sure when he should announce, not too anxious to take an early plunge.

Finally, as he saw Kefauver and Harriman getting into the picture and realized that early work by them could line up delegates that he couldn't retrieve later, he decided to get into the fight early—much earlier than the average candidate announces.

So Mr. Truman, who took off the gloves for Adlai in 1952 but whose worthwhile remarks weren't always appreciated by Adlai, got his way.

More Outside Interests

Two more possible conflict-of-interest cases have cropped up inside the Eisenhower administration on the heels of the resignation of Peter Strobel, Secretary of the Air Force Talbot, and the expose of Adolph Wenzell's work for Dixon-Yates inside the Budget Bureau.

One of the new cases is that of Interstate Commerce Commission Chairman Hugh Cross, Republican, already under investigation by the Senate Government Operations Committee.

The other is a possible conflict of interest by Walter Berger, deputy administrator of commodity stabilizations and vice president of the Commodity Credit Corporation which handles the tremendous crop surpluses.

Berger owns stock in the Shea Chemical Corporation of Baltimore, a firm which sells fertilizer or fertilizer ingredients, in some cases through the Agriculture Department of which Berger is an important official.

Berger, when interviewed, said that he had become chief executive of the Shea Chemical Corp. A little over two years ago on a five-year contract, and when he entered the Agriculture Department the company bought up his contract with an agreement that it would get first option on his services when he leaves the government.

Retained Stock

He admitted, however, that he had kept his stock, originally 530 shares. However, the stock has been split and Berger said he did not know how much his 530 shares had multiplied.

The retention of this stock is contrary to the policy laid down by Congress for other government officials, among them Secretary of Defense Wilson, if their firms do business with the government. Wilson, accordingly, sold his General Motors stock.

The Shea Chemical Corp. Has done business with the Agriculture Department, though Berger claimed he had kept strictly aloof from his company's transactions. He admitted his company had sold limestone from a limestone quarry at Adams, Mass., to the Agriculture Department, though he said it was distributed through farmers for use on their land and he was in no way involved.

He also admitted that the Shea company sells phosphorus and other ingredients to several fertilizer companies. Though the Agriculture Department helped arrange a triple barter deal for Korea and Austria in which some American fertilizer was purchased, he maintained that he had nothing to do with it.

Berger was president of the Des Moines Cat Products Company from 1936 to 1948, was president of the American Feed Manufacturers Association, became executive vice president of the Shea Chemical Corp., in 1952.

Cross Interceded

In the case of ICC Chairman Cross, he has admitted behind closed doors that he telephoned the presidents of railroads entering Chicago on behalf of the Keeshin Transport System, which wanted to take the 102-year-old contract away from Parmalee Bus for transferring baggage and passengers between Chicago terminals.

John Keeshin, head of the Keeshin Company, which later formed the Railroad Transfer Service, is a friend of Cross's. Cross admitted to senators that he had no business meddling in the case since it was not an interstate matter, being solely concerned with the city of Chicago.

His power with the railroads is great and his interference may have influenced the contract award to Keeshin.

Chairman Cross denied that he was offered a job by the Keeshin concern, though he admits discussing possible employment with the company long before the Parmalee contract came up.

NOTE—What the senators really ought to investigate is the part Cross played in the battle between the New York Central and Robert R. Young with Texas oil allies.

School Costs

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass.—So many letters come to me, from both teachers and taxpayers, that I would like this week to answer them all in this column in an impartial manner.

Teachers Deserve More Salaries Let me start out by saying that my sympathies are distinctly with the school teachers and especially with the school principals. It is true that truck drivers are getting more pay than school teachers. Morally this seems unjust, but the fact is that the employers have substituted motors for horses and big trucks for wagons. These trucks carry as much in a day as the old horses and wagons carried in a week. In other words, the employers have adopted methods which enable the truck drivers to have increased wages.

Painters today are paid double what they were 20 years ago; but employers have adopted sprayers in place of brushes. Carpenters are getting double; but the employers are supplying them with electric saws instead of hand saws. The school committees and the city fathers, on the other hand, have not done much of anything to help the teachers do more efficient work. As an employer, I pay my typists double what I used to pay them; but with electric typewriters and other machinery they give me double the work. The doctor costs us more a visit; but he is making us live longer. Hard-covered books cost more; but we can get the same thing for half the price with paper covers. Radio, washing machines, and TVs have all improved in quality, and hence profit returns offset the wage increases.

Crazy Legislation Increases Costs Let us consider who benefits from the increased costs of modern school buildings. Twenty per cent of this increased cost is due to unnecessary classroom space, glass windows, unused ventilation, and rules or regulations put through by labor unions and similar associations. Fifty per cent of the increased cost is due to plumbing, electrical work, modern kitchens, fancy gymnasiums, auditoriums to please the voters, not to improve education. Thirty per cent has been due to the increased costs of materials, of which Uncle Sam takes 52 per cent in taxes. In a general way, this also explains the increased costs of most houses. School committees, by catering to the voters, are largely responsible for these high-cost buildings. They should not make the teachers carry the burden of these costs by accepting low salaries.

The doctors are not only delivering better services for increased fees, but they are forming associations to conquer cancer, heart disease, and even polio. We, however, do not know of any PTA which is developing new systems of instruction to assure the teachers better salaries. We hear of very few cities where the classrooms are giving double service, with half of the students coming in the morning and the other half in the afternoon. We hear of experiments with radio and TV. Unfortunately, however, too few parents are interested in better teaching. Too many parents want to work outside the home, and use the schools for parking places for their children.

Awful Research

Unfortunately, the teachers' future awaits some very important research. The schools are spending billions a year to park and lunch children, but — unlike our large industries—are spending very little on fundamental research. We understand the psychology of a cow better than the psychology of a child. Those who control education do not know the difference between a "brain" and a "mind." To say nothing about the probabilities of extrasensory perception and the use of numbers rather than sentences. Possibilities of the mind are tremendous. But teachers may be obliged to supplement their teaching by giving pupils prescribed diets, or new undiscovered drugs, or electric impulses. Education also may take an active interest in eugenics. As Sir George Thompson is reported to say, "What the brain can foresee presents the greatest promise that lies ahead." Surely, the time required for a conventional education will be cut 75 per cent, schools will graduate far more efficient pupils, and teachers will be paid what they are worth, or else they will be replaced by Univac machines.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

The utterly unexpected success of one of those overblown, gaudy historical novels lifted its hitherto unknown author to sudden prominence. The spotlight and all the other trimmings proved a little too much for him. A more severe case of swell-headedness hasn't been seen on Publishers' Row in many a moon.

It remained for a pert young girl to set "the genius" back on his heels, however, when he granted her an interview for her school paper. She listened to his boasting without cracking a smile; then said softly, "Why, I'll bet you're the greatest writer in America today!" The new literary lion contrived a modest look, and chided. "Haven't you forgotten Herringway, Faulkner, and O'Hara?"

"Oh, I wasn't thinking of you in that league," she told him—in front of a couple of mean, tale-telling associates, too. "They're really important writers!" That ended the interview.

Cleveland Routs Pittsburgh, 41-14; Redskins Win, 31-0

Otto Graham Accounts For Three Scores

George Ratterman, Curly Morrison Also Play Leading Roles

By FRITZ HOWELL
CLEVELAND, Nov. 20 (P)—Cleveland's champion Browns stayed ahead of the National League pack today as they scored in every period for a 41-14 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers. It was the seventh win in nine starts for the victors.

Passes Net Two Scores

Graham, although knocked for a 52-yard loss on attempted pass plays, tossed two touchdown aeriels to end Dante Lavelli, one for six yards and another for 41, and scored another six-pointer on an end run.

Other Browns touchdowns came on a 15-yard pass interception run-back by Ken Konz, a 3-yard plunge by Ed Modzelewski, and a 5-yard plunge by his substitute, Maurice Bassett.

The Pittsburgh club, which absorbed its fifth defeat in nine games, scored first on a 16-yard pass from Jim Finks to end Elbie Nickel after the Steelers had recovered a Graham fumble on the Browns 8-yard line. The other Steeler score came in the second session on the heels of another Graham fumble with Ted Marchibroda tossing 30 yards to Nickel.

Groza String Snapped

Tad Weed, 135-pound left-footed kicker from Ohio State, converted after each Steeler touchdown, but Lou Groza, the Browns' place kicker, saw his conversion string halted at 29, when his fourth attempt today was blocked. Groza made five of six, however.

Pittsburgh scoring—Touchdowns: Nickel 2 (15, pass from Finks; 30, pass from Marchibroda). Conversions: Weed 2.

Cleveland scoring—Touchdowns: Konz (15, pass-interception return); Lavelli 2 (6, pass from Graham; 41, pass from Graham); Modzelewski (3, plunge); Graham (4, end run); Bassett (5, plunge). Conversions: Groza 5.

Wes Santee Reinstated As Amateur

Suspension Lifted By Missouri Board

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 20 (P)—The Missouri Valley AAU board of managers today decided to lift the amateur suspension of Wes Santee, this country's fastest miler.

The managers voted 21-7 to reject the decision of the Missouri Valley AAU registration committee which suspended Santee on Oct. 30 on grounds he had accepted excessive expense allowances for three California track meets last month.

Santee's suspension will be lifted automatically if no one appeals today's decision to the board of governors of the National AAU within 10 days.

Santee Is Pleased

Santee, former University of Kansas star who now is a marine lieutenant stationed at Quantico, Va., was unable to attend today's meeting but was represented by Bill Easton, his former coach at Kansas.

Told by the Associated Press of the lifting of the suspension, Santee said, "I'm very pleased, naturally. Now at least I'll have a running chance in the Olympic Games."

The suspension would have barred Santee from participating in the 1956 Olympics in Australia. He had said previously that he would hate to miss that contest.

Santee has maintained he has never done anything to violate amateur athletic standards.

Others Not Punished

Marion Miller, secretary of the Missouri Valley AAU, quoted Easton as telling the committee, in effect, that other athletes had received expense money in excess of amounts authorized by AAU rules and that nothing had been done.

Theo Bland, 78-year-old Kansas City man who served as temporary chairman of the registration group for the Santee hearing, said he could not recall a single case where a similar suspension was reversed by the board of managers.

Bland was a member of the AAU's board of governors, the organization's supreme court, as early as 1902.

Navy Soccer Team Beats Army, 3-0

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 20 (P)—A penalty shot and a long assist by Pete Fitzwilliam helped Navy's soccer team shut out Army 3-0 today.

Navy wound up the season with a record of seven wins, three losses and a tie. Army lost eight and won two.

Chuck Harlow, a Navy substitute, booted in the first score after 8 minutes of the second quarter sending it home from a scramble about 10 yards out.

Navy's Jim Flatley was tripped three yards in front of the goal and Fitzwilliam put in the penalty shot after six minutes of the third quarter.

Navy took 22 shots at the goal. Army tried twice.

Los Angeles Battles Colts To 17-17 Tie

Shaw's Fumble Sets Up Rams' Tying TD

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (P)—Quarterback George Shaw of the Baltimore Colts was alternately the hero and heartbreaker to 41,146 of his fans today while the Los Angeles Rams came from behind in the second half twice to gain a 17-17 tie.

Shaw put the Colts ahead 17-0 early in the last quarter with a beautiful faking pass 28 yards over the goal to end Jim Mutscheller.

Fumble Sets Up Score
Then Jack Ellena for the second time recovered Shaw's fumble on the Col 16 and the Rams went for the tying touchdown. Paul (Tank) Younger, the brunt of Los Angeles' attack throughout with 25 carries for 108 yards, took the ball to the one on a screen pass and Ronnie Waller carried it over.

The teams, both fighting against elimination as contenders for the Western Division title of the National Football League, also traded touchdowns in the third quarter after Los Angeles led 3-0 at halftime on Les Richter's 9-yard field goal.

Bert Rechichar kicked a tying field goal from the 31 in the third quarter and he then recovered Younger's fumble on the Los Angeles 21 to set up a touchdown. Shaw's screen pass to Alan Ameche, who rushed for 73 yards on 22 carries, advanced the ball to the 3 and the league's leading ground gainer took it over in three tries.

The Rams traveled 71 yards to tie the score again, Younger, bulling the last 8 yards in three cracks after three completed passes by Norman Van Brocklin ate up 38 yards.

Tie Is Meaningless

The meaningless tie left the Rams with a record of 5 victories and 3 defeats and the Colts with an even 4-4 break in their other 8 games. Both teams refused to gamble for touchdowns in the first period. The Colts took the opening kick-off back to the 20 and with fourth down and two yards to go tried a field goal which Gary Kerkorian missed.

The Colts also got to the 10 with the aid of 20 yards in penalties but Shaw was dumped for a 16-yard loss by Andy Robustelli and Rechichar missed a field goal from the 37.

Shaw and Van Brocklin had virtually a standoff in their passing duel as well as in the final score. Shaw completed 14 of 23 for 223 yards and Van Brocklin 12 of 24 for 222.

Los Angeles scoring—Touchdowns: Younger (1, plunge); Richter (2, field goal); Mutscheller (27, pass from Shaw). Conversions: Rechichar 2. Field goal: Rechichar (31).

Chicago Bears Take Lead By Beating Detroit, 24-14

Harlon Hill Stars, 53,610 See Battle

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT, Nov. 20 (P)—Harlon Hill fooled Detroit pass defenders twice with his baffling fakery to catch two touchdowns passes in the third quarter and lead the Chicago Bears to a 24-14 victory over the Lions today.

The victory was the sixth straight for the Bears and pushed them into undisputed possession of first place in the Western Division of the National Football League.

The Bears, who lost their first three games of the season, now have a 6-3 record compared to Los Angeles' runnerup mark of 5-3-1.

Hill Proves Elusive

Hill, an elusive end from little-known Florence Teachers College of Alabama picked off tosses of 20 and 40 yards from quarterback Ed Brown for his seventh and eighth touchdowns of the season.

On both plays Hill feinted Detroit defenders out of position to make the tallies possible.

He spun away from Carl Karilivacz on the first one, making an over-the-shoulder catch of Brown's 20-yard strike in the end zone. On the other, Hill employed a stop-go pattern to shake loose from Bill Stits and catch Brown's pass in the clear for a 40-yard score.

Lions Take Early Lead

The Lions surprised the Bears by taking a 14-10 lead at halftime on a pair of long-range, touchdown pass plays started by quarterback Bobby Layne.

Chicago Bears scoring—Touchdowns: McColl (11, pass-run from Brown); Hill 2 (20, pass from Brown); 40, pass-run from Brown). Conversions: Blanda 3. Field goal: Blanda (10).

Detroit scoring—Touchdowns: Walker (70, pass-run from Layne); Middleton (77, pass-run from Layne). Conversions: Walker 2.

Los Angeles Battles Colts To 17-17 Tie

Shaw's Fumble Sets Up Rams' Tying TD

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (P)—Quarterback George Shaw of the Baltimore Colts was alternately the hero and heartbreaker to 41,146 of his fans today while the Los Angeles Rams came from behind in the second half twice to gain a 17-17 tie.

Shaw put the Colts ahead 17-0 early in the last quarter with a beautiful faking pass 28 yards over the goal to end Jim Mutscheller.

Fumble Sets Up Score
Then Jack Ellena for the second time recovered Shaw's fumble on the Col 16 and the Rams went for the tying touchdown. Paul (Tank) Younger, the brunt of Los Angeles' attack throughout with 25 carries for 108 yards, took the ball to the one on a screen pass and Ronnie Waller carried it over.

The teams, both fighting against elimination as contenders for the Western Division title of the National Football League, also traded touchdowns in the third quarter after Los Angeles led 3-0 at halftime on Les Richter's 9-yard field goal.

Bert Rechichar kicked a tying field goal from the 31 in the third quarter and he then recovered Younger's fumble on the Los Angeles 21 to set up a touchdown. Shaw's screen pass to Alan Ameche, who rushed for 73 yards on 22 carries, advanced the ball to the 3 and the league's leading ground gainer took it over in three tries.

The Rams traveled 71 yards to tie the score again, Younger, bulling the last 8 yards in three cracks after three completed passes by Norman Van Brocklin ate up 38 yards.

The meaningless tie left the Rams with a record of 5 victories and 3 defeats and the Colts with an even 4-4 break in their other 8 games. Both teams refused to gamble for touchdowns in the first period. The Colts took the opening kick-off back to the 20 and with fourth down and two yards to go tried a field goal which Gary Kerkorian missed.

The Colts also got to the 10 with the aid of 20 yards in penalties but Shaw was dumped for a 16-yard loss by Andy Robustelli and Rechichar missed a field goal from the 37.

Shaw and Van Brocklin had virtually a standoff in their passing duel as well as in the final score. Shaw completed 14 of 23 for 223 yards and Van Brocklin 12 of 24 for 222.

Chicago Bears Take Lead By Beating Detroit, 24-14

Harlon Hill Stars, 53,610 See Battle

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT, Nov. 20 (P)—Harlon Hill fooled Detroit pass defenders twice with his baffling fakery to catch two touchdowns passes in the third quarter and lead the Chicago Bears to a 24-14 victory over the Lions today.

The victory was the sixth straight for the Bears and pushed them into undisputed possession of first place in the Western Division of the National Football League.

The Bears, who lost their first three games of the season, now have a 6-3 record compared to Los Angeles' runnerup mark of 5-3-1.

Otto Graham Accounts For Three Scores

George Ratterman, Curly Morrison Also Play Leading Roles

By FRITZ HOWELL
CLEVELAND, Nov. 20 (AP)—Cleveland's championship Browns stayed ahead of the National League pack today as they scored in every period for a 41-14 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers. It was the seventh win in nine starts for the victors.

After a tight first half, the Browns broke it open in the late going with a great display of passing by Otto Graham and George Ratterman, and some of the season's flashiest running by halfback Curly Morrison.

Passes Net Two Scores

Graham, although knocked for a 52-yard loss on attempted pass plays, tossed two touchdown aeriels to end Dante Lavelli, one for six yards and another for 41, and scored another six-pointer on an end run.

Other Browns touchdowns came on a 15-yard pass interception run-back by Ken Konz, a 3-yard plunge by Ed Modzelewski, and a 5-yard plunge by his substitute, Maurice Bassett.

The Pittsburgh club, which absorbed its fifth defeat in nine games, scored first on a 16-yard pass from Jim Finks to end Elbie Nickel after the Steelers had recovered a Graham fumble on the Browns 8-yard line. The other Steeler score came in the second session on the heels of another Graham fumble with Ted Marchibroda tossing 30 yards to Nickel.

Groza String Snapped

Tad Weed, 135-pound left-footed kicker from Ohio State, converted after each Steeler touchdown, but Lou Groza, the Browns' place kicker, saw his conversion string halted at 29, when his fourth attempt today was blocked. Groza made five of six, however.

Pittsburgh scoring—Touchdowns: Nickel 2 (15, pass from Finks; 30, pass from Marchibroda). Conversions: Weed 2.

Cleveland scoring—Touchdowns: Konz (15, pass-interception return); Lavelli 2 (6, pass from Graham; 41, pass from Graham); Modzelewski (3, plunge); Graham (4, end run); Bassett (5, plunge). Conversions: Groza 5.

Wes Santee Reinstated As Amateur

Suspension Lifted By Missouri Board

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Missouri Valley AAU board of managers today decided to lift the amateur suspension of Wes Santee, this country's fastest miler.

The managers voted 21-7 to reject the decision of the Missouri Valley AAU registration committee which suspended Santee on Oct. 30 on grounds he had accepted excessive expense allowances for three California track meets last month.

Santee's suspension will be lifted automatically if no one appeals today's decision to the board of governors of the National AAU within 10 days.

Santee Is Pleased

Santee, former University of Kansas star who now is a marine lieutenant stationed at Quantico, Va., was unable to attend today's meeting but was represented by Bill Easton, his former coach at Kansas.

Told by the Associated Press of the lifting of the suspension, Santee said, "I'm very pleased, naturally. Now at least I'll have a running chance in the Olympic Games."

The suspension would have barred Santee from participating in the 1956 Olympics in Australia. He had said previously that he would hate to miss that contest.

Others Not Punished

Marion Miller, secretary of the Missouri Valley AAU, quoted Easton as telling the committee, in effect, that other athletes had received expense money in excess of amounts authorized by AAU rules and that nothing had been done.

Theo Bland, 78-year-old Kansas City man who served as temporary chairman of the registration group for the Santee hearing, said he could not recall a single case where a similar suspension was reversed by the board of managers. Bland was a member of the AAU's board of governors, the organization's supreme court, as early as 1902.

Navy Soccer Team Beats Army, 3-0

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 20 (AP)—A penalty shot and a long assist by Pete Fitzwilliam helped Navy's soccer team shut out Army 3-0 today.

Navy wound up the season with a record of seven wins, three losses and a tie. Army lost eight and won two.

Chuck Harlow, a Navy substitute, booted in the first score after 8 minutes of the second quarter sending it home from a scramble about 10 yards out.

Navy's Jim Flatley was tripped three yards in front of the goal and Fitzwilliam put in the penalty shot after six minutes of the third quarter.

Navy took 22 shots at the goal. Army tried twice.

Vereb Scores 16 Of 32 TDs For Maryland

Terps Post 10th Win, Play 5th Bowl Game

By GEORGE BOWEN

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 20 (AP)—Coach Jim Tatum virtually called the shot before the season that his Maryland football team would be unbeaten, but not even he had any idea that halfback Ed Vereb would have such a tremendous part in it.

Maryland scored 32 touchdowns winning its 10 games and Vereb was responsible for 18, going over for 16 himself and passing for two others. This was only one point shy of the all-time Maryland scoring record and striking tangible evidence of the Pittsburgh senior's value.

But there were many more times that you couldn't count when he was called upon for the make or break gain that kept other drives going.

Lynn Passes For Score

Tatum showed Saturday how much he had come to rely upon Vereb against George Washington.

After Lynn Beightol, quarterbacking the first string for the second straight game, got Maryland off to a 6-0 lead on a 41-yard pass to end Russell Dennis, Tatum sent in the second string. Except for Vereb.

With the ball on the GW 26, he gained 22 yards in four carries and scored from the 1.

Late in the second quarter the second team again was moving goalward with time fast running out. In came Vereb to gain eight yards and then score from four yards out with only 17 seconds left in the half.

George Washington jumped offside on the play but Vereb hadn't scored Maryland would not have had time for another play.

That turned out to be the last touchdown of the game and George Washington threatened three times to score in the second half to once by Maryland.

The Washingtonians were stopped right at the goal, the 21 and the 16. Tatum's decisions to have Vereb guarantee his two first half touchdowns looked better each time.

Tatum's Record 73-14-4

They made certain of his third undefeated team in the last five. It brought Tatum's record in nine years at Maryland to 73-14-4, including four post season bowls.

The fifth trip to the Orange Bowl next Jan. 2 will be against Oklahoma, the only team to lick Maryland in a post-season game.

Vereb undoubtedly will be the workhorse. He has carried the ball 114 times for 642 net yards. Last year when fullback Dick Bielski was Maryland's bread and butter gainer, he carried 79 for 405.

And last season, Vereb as a second string halfback got his hands on the ball only 17 times for 135 yards and scored only twice.

Chicago Bears Take Lead By Beating Detroit, 24-14

Harlon Hill Stars, 53,610 See Battle

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT, Nov. 20 (AP)—Harlon Hill fooled Detroit pass defenders twice with his baffling fakery to catch two touchdowns passes in the third quarter and lead the Chicago Bears to a 24-14 victory over the Lions today before 53,610 spectators in Briggs Stadium today.

The victory was the sixth straight for the Bears and pushed them into undisputed possession of first place in the Western Division of the National Football League.

The Bears, who lost their first three games of the season, now have a 6-3 record compared to Los Angeles' runnerup mark of 5-3-1.

Hill Proves Elusive

Hill, an elusive end from Littleton Florence Teachers College of Alabama picked off tosses of 20 and 40 yards from quarterback Ed Brown for his seventh and eighth touchdowns of the season.

On both plays Hill feinted Detroit defenders out of position to make the tackles possible.

He spun away from Carl Karilivacz on the first one, making an over-the-shoulder catch of Brown's 20-yard strike in the end zone. On the other, Hill employed a stop-go pattern to shake loose from Bill Stits and catch Brown's pass in the clear for a 40-yard score.

Lions Take Early Lead

The Lions surprised the Bears by taking a 14-0 lead at halftime on a pair of long-range, touchdown pass plays started by quarterback Bobby Layne.

Chicago Bears..... 7 3 14 0-24
Detroit Lions..... 7 7 0 0-14

Chicago Bears scoring—Touchdowns: McColl (11, pass-run from Brown); Hill 2 (20, pass from Brown); 40, pass-run from Brown). Conversions: Blanda 3. Field goal: Blanda (10).

Michigan State-UCLA To Clash Second Time In Rose Bowl

Spartans Gain Bid Following Michigan Loss

Buckeyes Cop Title; Maryland, Pitt Win; West Virginia Loses

By WILL GRIMSLEY
The Associated Press

Michigan State and UCLA, third and fifth respectively in the national football rankings, have another Rose Bowl rendezvous scheduled Jan. 2 at Pasadena.

Michigan State, which won a wild battle from UCLA three years ago 28-20, was formally named as the Big Ten representative yesterday. UCLA's selection was a matter of routine.

The UCLA Bruins, beaten only by Maryland this year, clinched their third straight Pacific Coast Conference championship and the bowl spot by humbling Southern California 17-7.

Michigan State took the side door, gaining the Big Ten bid when Ohio State, repeating as conference titleholder and ineligible for the Pasadena trip, cut down Michigan in a game which ended in a near brawl 17-0.

Texas Christian was chosen for the Cotton Bowl at Dallas after its 35-0 rout of Rice, leaving the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans as the only post season fixture with a cupboard bare.

Rose Bowl — Michigan State (8-1) vs. UCLA (9-1).

Orange Bowl — Oklahoma (9-0) vs. Maryland (9-0), the two top-ranking teams in the country.

Cotton Bowl — TCU (8-1) vs. team to be selected. The Cotton Bowl wants Navy if the latter can beat Army next Saturday. Otherwise, the nod will go to one of the Southeastern teams or possibly Pittsburgh.

Sugar Bowl — Mississippi, Georgia Tech and Auburn leading candidates with Vanderbilt, winner of its last six, a "dark horse." Two Southeastern teams not improbable but Pitt an outside bet.

The season comes to a climax next Saturday with the Army-Navy classic at Philadelphia, Notre Dame-Southern Cal at Los Angeles and scattered Dixie battles which should clarify the bowl setup.

Mississippi, leading the Southeastern Conference with only one defeat, closes with Mississippi State, Georgia Tech (7-1-1) meets Georgia, Auburn (7-1-1) plays Alabama and Vanderbilt (7-2) takes on Tennessee, which was pushed out of the bowl picture by Kentucky 23-0.

It was a dizzy Saturday. Snow blanketed the East and Midwest and a player named Polar Bear scored a touchdown for Rutgers in beating Columbia 12-6. The bitter Michigan-Ohio State battle ended in a near riot. At Los Angeles, Southern Cal's Jon Arnett saw his 97-yard run with the opening kickoff cancelled by a penalty. And in the Purdue-Indiana game, won by Purdue 6-4, a water pipe burst and sent a geyser spraying over hundreds of fans.

Notre Dame beat Iowa 17-14 on a field goal in the last three minutes but not before the Irish were penalized 15 yards because a kicking tee was thrown onto the field.

Cassidy Stands Out

Ohio State, playing what Coach Woody Hayes called "precision football," won its first game at Ann Arbor, Mich., since 1937 with two touchdowns, a field goal, a safety and a brilliant performance by Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy.

Southern Cal was fired to an upset pitch until the bad break on Arnett's opening run. Then the Trojans' seemed to sag and Coach Red Sanders' well-drilled troops marched to a decisive victory.

Oklahoma and Maryland kept their records intact with easy victories. Oklahoma rolled to its 28th straight victory, beating Nebraska 41-0 in the last game for Nebraska's coach, Bill Glassford. Maryland downed Georgia Washington 19-0.

In the involved Southeastern Conference, Vanderbilt continued its late season surge by smashing Florida 21-6. Auburn played non-conference Clemson and won 21-0 while Louisiana State upset the Southwest's Arkansas 13-7.

The East produced a pair of bowl possibilities in Pittsburgh, which added Penn State to its imposing list of victims 20-0, and Syracuse, which gave West Virginia a second straight setback 20-13. Pitt, which has lost to Oklahoma, Navy and Miami, halted the winning streaks of both Duke and West Virginia. Syracuse's main claim to fame is a victory over Army.

Princeton reclaimed the Ivy League title after four years by slushing to a 6-3 win over Dartmouth in the snow. Yale had to be content with runnerup honors after beating Harvard 21-7.

In the Southwest, Texas A&M's comeback kids, sweating out a year's probation, close with a Thanksgiving Day game against Texas while TCU meets Southern Methodist Saturday. The Aggies can clinch the league title but TCU goes to the bowl, regardless.

Dallas sponsors hope to land Navy, a Sugar Bowl participant a year ago, for the Cotton Bowl but might settle for Georgia Tech or Auburn should Mississippi land at New Orleans. Pitt is an outside possibility.

Army-Navy Game Tops Last Big Football Saturday Nov. 26

THAT ANNUAL meeting of Army and Navy in Philadelphia tops the last big football Saturday of the season November 26. Other big ones scheduled include Notre Dame and Southern California. Boston College and Holy Cross, Georgia Tech and Georgia, Mississippi and Mississippi State, Oklahoma and Oklahoma A&M, Tennessee and Vanderbilt and Texas Christian and SMU. (International)

Beall has yet to win from a LaSalle team coached by Norman F. Geatz, Jr., having dropped three in a row and tied one. Teams coached by Joe Hoopengardner have won three straight defeats at the hands of Explorer eleven.

The opening kickoff Thursday is set for 1:30 o'clock. Officials will be John Shelton, Bob Pence, Jim Gaffney and John Blough.

Syracuse's main claim to fame is a victory over Army.

Princeton reclaimed the Ivy League title after four years by slugging to a 6-3 win over Dartmouth in the snow. Yale had to be content with runnerup honors after beating Harvard 21-7.

In the Southwest, Texas A&M's comeback kids, sweating out a year's probation, close with a Thanksgiving Day game against Texas while TCU meets Southern Methodist Saturday. The Aggies can clinch the league title but TCU goes to the bowl, regardless.

Dallas sponsors hope to land Navy, a Sugar Bowl participant a year ago, for the Cotton Bowl but might settle for Georgia Tech or Auburn should Mississippi land at New Orleans. Pitt is an outside possibility.

Army-Navy Game Tops Last Big Football Saturday Nov. 26

THAT ANNUAL meeting of Army and Navy in Philadelphia tops the last big football Saturday of the season November 26. Other big ones scheduled include Notre Dame and Southern California. Boston College and Holy Cross, Georgia Tech and Georgia, Mississippi and Mississippi State, Oklahoma and Oklahoma A&M, Tennessee and Vanderbilt and Texas Christian and SMU. (International)

LaSalle High's Turkey Day Football Record Is 13-7-2

To Meet Beall High 10th Straight Year;
Explorers Lead In This Series 7-1-1

LaSalle High School will appear in a Thanksgiving Day football game for the twenty-third time this week when the Explorers meet Beall High School for the tenth consecutive season Thursday at Frostburg.

The Explorers have played five different schools in holiday contests since 1928 and they have emerged the winner 13 times while losing seven. Two games ended in ties.

LaSalle's first game with Beall was in 1946 when the Frostburg school revived the fall sport after a lapse of 25 years. Nine games have been played and the Christian Brothers' school has won seven and lost one with one contest ending in a deadlock.

Beall has yet to win from a LaSalle team coached by Norman F. Geatz, Jr., having dropped three in a row and tied one. Teams coached by Joe Hoopengardner have won one, lost four and tied one while Coach J. Ray Hull's teams have suffered three straight defeats at the hands of Explorer elevens.

The opening kickoff Thursday is set for 1:30 o'clock. Officials will be John Shelton, Bob Pence, Jim Gaffney and John Blough.

Here's how LaSalle has fared in past Turkey Day games.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 20 (INS)—Tomorrow, Jose Ferrer arrives from New York. He'll go straight to U-I for luncheon where he'll sign to direct and star in "The Great Man," based on a best seller by Al Morgan.

I'm sure many of you read the story of a radio and TV idol who is adored by his public who believes he is the sweetest guy in the world. After his death, when a producer (to be played by Ferrer) is assigned to prepare a memorial spectacular broadcast he finds the idol was really a throat-cutting, backstabbing no good.

Aaron Rosenberg has been named as the producer of "The Great Man," which goes before the cameras the first of March.

Doris Day has her eye on "Anna Christie." She would like to do a musical version of it. A beautiful score already has been written by Bob Merrill (not the opera singer), and she believes the time has come for her to do some serious drama.

Before Doris thought of acting, a girl named Garbo created a great success in this play by Eugene O'Neill. How well I remember both Greta and Marie Dressler, who was wonderful as Anna's father's lady friend.

"I doubt if Metro even knows Doris would like to do 'Anna Christie,'" Marty Melcher told me, "but I think she should grow up."

And on this side of the Atlantic, well the big news is that the prize for saying the secret word on Groucho Marx's program has gone from $100 to $101. Groucho trying desperately to keep pace. It isn't enough, Groucho. To quote that eminent critic Goodman Ace on the demise of the Phil Baker show where we used to hear that celebrated question "Would you like to try for $64?": "It isn't that money went out of fashion. It's just that $64 went out of fashion."

No, anything under $32,000—well a man can't live on it. On NBC's "Big Surprise," a Mrs. Kyra Petrovskaya Shirk of York, Pa., just won $50,000 for her knowledge of arms and ammunition. She not only correctly identified a Browning automatic, carbine, Garand and Springfield, but also loaded and fired the Springfield. That's just what we need over here—more wives who know how to load and fire guns. I imagine it was very instructive to a lot of other wives who might just not have known how to load and fire a Springfield but who do now.

Up in Canada, "MacLean's" magazine declared editorially that it was dismayed but not really surprised when a program offered a young woman $100,000 if she could break a hypnotic spell and reach out for the cold hard cash in front of her.

"It seems to us that the ever-increasing costliness of the giveaway prizes is accompanied by an ever-increasing cheapness of the general taste—and it is this that disturbs us. We were not shocked by the giveaways, only saddened by the sickness they typify. We have no doubt that the phenomenon will be used by future social historians to symbolize an age that places a premium on swift material gain and consistently confuses the possession of facts with the gift of wisdom."

On The Line

by Bob Considine

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (INS)—Early signs suggest that the No. 1 whipping boy of the Democrats next year will be Vice President Richard Nixon. Continued peace and prosperity will be massive obstacles in the path of a party determined to regain the White House. The other targets must be found, influence peddling in high place, officials who didn't get all the way out of their businesses . . . but there's always Nixon. Few Dems will rap Ike, but it'll be open season on Nixon.

Not all the Democratic chieftains agree with this strategy. A consistently picked-on man sometimes generates tremendous sympathy and support. Col. Jack Arvey, the man who did so much to bring Stevenson to the fore in the party, felt that if the 1952 elections had been held the day after Nixon made his historic appearance on television to explain his finances the GOP would have won by an even greater margin than it did.

"Every woman in the country would have voted for him," the colonel grumbled at the time. In his cultivated duel with the press the other day, Adlai Stevenson seemed to be saying, in connection with the importance that he placed on the role of the vice president, that the GOP was remiss in choosing Nixon. Paul Butler used no such kid gloves.

"Any candidate we have would be a better candidate than Nixon," Butler said. He went on to say that Nixon called the Democratic Party the party of treason and that if the Eisenhower-Nixon team runs again the question of the President's health will be a major issue of the campaign because of Nixon's presence.

But Butler seems sure that Eisenhower will not run. At least he seems surer than Stevenson, who may have set the tone for Democratic treatment of Eisenhower through the next year. Nobody here seems to have anything against Ike.

Speaking of Sen. Lyndon Johnson's heart attack, Stevenson volunteered earnestly to "hope and pray" that useful activities of all who have suffered heart attacks are not limited, and "most specifically" he included the President. He hadn't expected the President to run again, he added, but from the tone of reports many people believe he will, and Stevenson went on to imply that he could believe it himself.

Butler, who talks much tougher, said that when he first predicted months ago that Ike would not run again he based his opinion on Mrs. Eisenhower's health. Now he bases it on the President's.

Never have political writers been so health conscious. Of all the millions of questions hurled at the candidates in '52 it is extremely doubtful if anybody asked about the pulse, blood pressure, cardiograph and other readings on the contestants. Looking back, this was remarkable when one considers that Mr. Truman was in the White House at the time chiefly because his illustrious predecessor had worn out and died on the punishing job.

It thus seemed natural when someone asked Stevenson about his own health at his news conference. The 55-year-old tennis-playing former governor of Illinois said that he had just emerged from his "semi-annual ordeal" and the doctors had found him in "better than normal condition."

Mary's Cleaners is now Equipped to handle all your Cleaning Needs! We've installed new Equipment to Care for—

Stevenson has the finest, quickest command of good English of any politician in my experience. Astonishingly, it could hurt him here and there in the country. But it shore makes party listening. I am not one of those who believes that you can characterize a philosophy on public issues by slogans. I have never been sure what progressive conservatism means, or was it conservative progressivism? I have forgotten what dynamic moderation or moderate dynamism means. I am not even sure what it means when one says that he is a conservative in fiscal affairs and a liberal in human affairs. I assume what it means is that you will strongly recommend the building of a great many schools to accommodate the needs of our children, but not provide the money.

And what Marty wants, Marty usually gets.

All day long Thursday, reporters were telephoning Gloria Vanderbilt for interviews, only to find it wasn't possible to contact her. Later she checked out of the Beverly Hills Hotel and was on her way to New York by the time the last reporter reached the hotel.

Goes without saying that Hollywood is vitally interested in the reaction of the Russian newspaper men who visited our studios ten days ago.

In view of this, Frank McCarthy at 20th says that he has requested the State Department in Washington to send him reports from Russia on all the stories the communist journalists write for their papers when they return home.

It will be interesting to see if they color the stories of Hollywood or do straight reporting and tell about the receptions.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Rock Hudson and his bride have reserved the Beverly Hilton bridal suite for Nov. 20. They will be home for Thanksgiving.

Dana Wynter revealed the reason she went to the small dinner party at the Gary Coopers alone is because she's seriously interested in someone in England.

Liz Taylor's trip to Spanish Morocco with Mike Wilding was partially for Liz to have a view of nearby Africa with the idea of her playing the lead in Robert Ruark's book "Something Of Value."

Vic Damone puts his 12 weeks old baby son on a plane with its nurse, headed for London where the baby's mother, Pier Angeli, is now. Vic will make the trip himself when his commitments permit.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

And on this side of the Atlantic, well the big news is that the prize for saying the secret word on Groucho Marx's program has gone from $100 to $101. Groucho trying desperately to keep pace. It isn't enough, Groucho. To quote that eminent critic Goodman Ace on the demise of the Phil Baker show where we used to hear that celebrated question "Would you like to try for $64?": "It isn't that money went out of fashion. It's just that $64 went out of fashion."

No, anything under $32,000—well a man can't live on it. On NBC's "Big Surprise," a Mrs. Kyra Petrovskaya Shirk of York, Pa., just won $50,000 for her knowledge of arms and ammunition. She not only correctly identified a Browning automatic, carbine, Garand and Springfield, but also loaded and fired the Springfield. That's just what we need over here—more wives who know how to load and fire guns. I imagine it was very instructive to a lot of other wives who might just not have known how to load and fire a Springfield but who do now.

Up in Canada, "MacLean's"

magazine declared editorially that it was dismayed but not really surprised when a program offered a young woman $100,000 if she could break a hypnotic spell and reach out for the cold hard cash in front of her.

"It seems to us that the ever-increasing costliness of the giveaway prizes is accompanied by an ever-increasing cheapness of the general taste—and it is this that disturbs us. We were not shocked by the giveaways, only saddened by the sickness they typify. We have no doubt that the phenomenon will be used by future social historians to symbolize an age that places a premium on swift material gain and consistently confuses the possession of facts with the gift of wisdom."

Business Too Good, Strike Called Off

SALISBURY, Md. Nov. 20 (AP)—Business is too good to strike, oyster shuckers in the Crisfield area have decided, so they will not press their demands for a 10 cent raise.

"The main reason was due to the fact that this is the busy season, the very best season and a prolonged strike could hurt the shuckers as well as the packers," said Elbert Bell of the AFL Seafood Workers Union.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (INS)—Early signs suggest that the No. 1 whipping boy of the Democrats next year will be Vice President Richard Nixon. Continued peace and prosperity will be massive obstacles in the path of a party determined to regain the White House. The other targets must be found, influence peddling in high place, officials who didn't get all the way out of their businesses . . . but there's always Nixon. Few Dems will rap Ike, but it'll be open season on Nixon.

Not all the Democratic chieftains agree with this strategy. A consistently picked-on man sometimes generates tremendous sympathy and support. Col. Jack Arvey, the man who did so much to bring Stevenson to the fore in the party, felt that if the 1952 elections had been held the day after Nixon made his historic appearance on television to explain his finances the GOP would have won by an even greater margin than it did.

"Every woman in the country would have voted for him," the colonel grumbled at the time.

In his cultivated duel with the press the other day, Adlai Stevenson seemed to be saying, in connection with the importance that he placed on the role of the vice president, that the GOP was remiss in choosing Nixon. Paul Butler used no such kid gloves.

"Any candidate we have would be a better candidate than Nixon," Butler said. He went on to say that Nixon called the Democratic Party the party of treason and that if the Eisenhower-Nixon team runs again the question of the President's health will be a major issue of the campaign because of Nixon's presence.

But Butler seems sure that Eisenhower will not run. At least he seems surer than Stevenson, who may have set the tone for Democratic treatment of Eisenhower through the next year. Nobody here seems to have anything against Ike.

Speaking of Sen. Lyndon Johnson's heart attack, Stevenson volunteered earnestly to "hope and pray" that useful activities of all who have suffered heart attacks are not limited, and "most specifically" he included the President. He hadn't expected the President to run again, he added, but from the tone of reports many people believe he will, and Stevenson went on to imply that he could believe it himself.

Butler, who talks much tougher, said that when he first predicted months ago that Ike would not run again he based his opinion on Mrs. Eisenhower's health. Now he bases it on the President's.

Never have political writers been so health conscious. Of all the millions of questions hurled at the candidates in '52 it is extremely doubtful if anybody asked about the pulse, blood pressure, cardiograph and other readings on the contestants. Looking back, this was remarkable when one considers that Mr. Truman was in the White House at the time chiefly because his illustrious predecessor had worn out and died on the punishing job.

It thus seemed natural when someone asked Stevenson about his own health at his news conference. The 55-year-old tennis-playing former governor of Illinois said that he had just emerged from his "semi-annual ordeal" and the doctors had found him in "better than normal condition."

Stevenson has the finest, quickest command of good English of any politician in my experience. Astonishingly, it could hurt him here and there in the country. But it shore makes purty listenin'! I am not one of those who believes that you can characterize a philosophy on public issues by slogans. I have never been sure what progressive conservatism means, or was it conservative progressivism? I have forgotten what dynamic moderation or moderate dynamism means. I am not even sure what it means when one says that he is a conservative in fiscal affairs and a liberal in human affairs. I assume what it means is that you will strongly recommend the building of a great many schools to accommodate the needs of our children, but not provide the money.

Quiz Contestant In England

My favorite quiz program tale of the moment comes from England where the prizes are smaller and the questions much harder. It concerns that redoubtable English quiz contestant Plantagenet Somerset Fry — a name that rings in the ears like the battle of Hastings. In fact, if there's any more British name than Plantagenet Somerset Fry, it hasn't resounded around here.

Well, sir, on British television, Plantagenet Somerset Fry, who is 40 years old, an Oxford undergraduate and bearded like the prophets, answered question after question about English history—obscure battles, ancient prime ministers and the like. They couldn't get the chap out and for 11 weeks he came back piling up his rewards to the monstrous sum of 512 pounds ($2,800 to the pound. Do your own arithmetic. By $64,000 standards, it isn't much).

On his 11th week, he was discovered in a TV dressing room stretched out full length on a sofa, garbed in a magenta waistcoat, sipping from a quart bottle of beer and answering history questions fired at him by four fellow Oxford undergraduates as a sort of tune-up for his next TV ordeal. After his 11th successful battle of wits, he announced, as all England breathed a sigh of relief that he would not try for the 1,024 pounds, "I think I shall call it a day," he said. "It's been a severe worry."

A statement as British as well as Plantagenet Somerset Fry. He also announced that he would devote most of his winnings to the publication of his thesis "The Vindication of Richard III." And high time somebody did something to vindicate Richard III, too. There has been a lot of loose talk about poor Richard, much of it caused by that scandalmonger William Shakespeare. I mean around my circles you hardly ever hear a good word about Richard and the fellow deserves his side of the case put on the record. I just hope it isn't a whitewash, that's all. Fellow named Plantagenet Somerset Fry—for all I know Richard III is his uncle. Let's just not go trying to make Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm out of Richard III, Plantagenet.

Quiz Contestant In England

My favorite quiz program tale of the moment comes from England where the prizes are smaller and the questions much harder. It concerns that redoubtable English quiz contestant Plantagenet Somerset Fry — a name that rings in the ears like the battle of Hastings. In fact, if there's any more British name than Plantagenet Somerset Fry, it hasn't resounded around here.

Well, sir, on British television, Plantagenet Somerset Fry, who is 35 years old, an Oxford undergraduate and bearded like the prophets, answered question after question about English history—obscure battles, ancient prime ministers and the like. They couldn't get the chap out and for 11 weeks he came back piling up his rewards to the monstrous sum of 512 pounds ($2,800 to the pound. Do your own arithmetic. By $64,000 standards, it isn't much).

On his 11th week, he was discovered in a TV dressing room stretched out full length on a sofa, garbed in a magenta waistcoat, sipping from a quart bottle of beer and answering history questions fired at him by four fellow Oxford undergraduates as a sort of tune-up for his next TV ordeal. After his 11th successful battle of wits, he announced, as all England breathed a sigh of relief that he would not try for the 1,024 pounds. "I think I shall call it a day," he said. "It's been a severe worry."

He also announced that he would devote most of his winnings to the publication of his thesis "The Vindication of Richard III." And high time somebody did something to vindicate Richard III, too. There has been a lot of loose talk about poor Richard, much of it caused by that scandalmonger William Shakespeare. I mean around my circles you hardly ever hear a good word about Richard and the fellow deserves his side of the case put on the record. I just hope it isn't a whitewash, that's all. Fellow named Plantagenet Somerset Fry—for all I know Richard III is his uncle. Let's just not go trying to make Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm out of Richard III, Plantagenet.

West opened the club jack, and East cashed the two top cards and led his third club.
South, in with the club queen, thought that he'd have easy sailing, since a 2-1 trump break would give him entry to dummy via the trump ten, but when he laid down the ace of trumps he was in for a shock.
After thinking matters over, South slyly led the nine of trumps, hoping that East would be glad to take his jack, which he could not otherwise make. But East had met other declarers bearing gifts, and he now looked askance at this "liberality." Why, East asked himself, should South present him with a trick? Obviously, the only answer was that he desperately needed the heart ten as an entry to dummy, and this in turn guaranteed that South was void of spades.
East refused to co-operate. Instead of taking the heart nine, he deliberately played the eight underneath it. Now it was South's turn to do some cogitating. He realized (as he had from the beginning) that there was an overwhelming chance that the diamond king lay over the queen. If he now picked up East's heart jack, he would almost certainly have to lose two diamonds. The one chance to fulfill the contract was to put East on lead and hope that he did not have the thirteenth card for an exit card. On that sound analysis, declarer persisted with another low heart, and this time East could not avoid the trap. He had to win with the heart jack, and his forced return of a spade or a diamond gave declarer entry to the dummy.

Guilty In Slaying Of College Roommate

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Nov. 20 (AP)—A Circuit Court jury today convicted James Ludwig Colvin of second degree murder for the slaying of his University of Alabama roommate. He was sentenced to 10 years in prison. The jury verdict was returned after more than 17 hours of deliberations. The second degree murder conviction was the second returned against Colvin in the 1951 Easter Sunday slaying of Luther Jerome Veazey of Greenville, Miss. The earlier verdict was reversed on appeal. Colvin was sentenced to 15 years in prison at the first trial. Colvin, of Lincoln, Ala., testified yesterday that he shot Veazey in self-defense after Veazey threatened to kill him and then advanced on him with a knife.

Guilty In Slaying Of College Roommate

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Nov. 20 (AP)—A Circuit Court jury today convicted James Ludwig Colvin of second degree murder for the slaying of his University of Alabama roommate. He was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

The jury verdict was returned after more than 17 hours of deliberations.

The second degree murder conviction was the second returned against Colvin in the 1951 Easter Sunday slaying of Luther Jerome Veazey of Greenville, Miss.

The earlier verdict was reversed on appeal. Colvin was sentenced to 15 years in prison at the first trial.

Colvin, of Lincoln, Ala., testified yesterday that he shot Veazey in self-defense after Veazey threatened to kill him and then advanced on him with a knife.

Farmers Ballot On New ASC Committees

860 May Vote
In Annual Poll

It is election time for the farmers of Allegany County and 860 of them have been mailed ballots to cast in the annual Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee elections.

Several changes in the election procedure have been made this year. For one thing, the number of communities in the county for ASC purposes has been reduced from nine to five. Instead of listing two or more nominees for each available position, the election committee has simply listed 10 candidates in each of the five communities.

Each farmer will vote for five of the 10 nominees in his community. The farmer receiving the highest number of votes will be chairman of the community ASC committee and delegate to the county convention at which the county ASC committee will be named.

November 28 Deadline

Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, manager of the local ASC office, emphasizes that all ballots must be postmarked not later than November 28. The county convention has been arranged for Monday, December 5.

The nominees:

Community No. 1, Little Orleans—Raymond W. Creek, C. C. Hartley, Suzanne Leasure, Charles H. Linaburg, Chester W. Mann, Donald McCusker, Harry A. Norris, Eldon H. Shipway, Conda N. Smith and William M. Trail.

Community No. 2, Oldtown and North Branch—Robert M. Appel, Wilbur E. Crabtree, Irvin Hennen, William Hetrick, Jonah Hose, Albert Kinser, Harry M. Shryock, Roy A. Shryock, Jr., M. L. Slider and Roy M. Twigg.

Community No. 3, Flintstone—E. H. Browning, Paul H. Browning, Justin Heavener, Robert Logeston, Curtis Middleton, McKinley Morris, Charles A. Stafford, Earl F. Stonestreet, Ora F. Thompson and Wade Wallizer.

Community No. 4, Union Grove and Mt. Savage—R. W. Ferguson, Irvin Geiger, Mrs. Ethel Jenkins, Raymond R. Lopley, Phillip R. Miller, Roy Minke, Frank R. McFarland, L. V. Shinnamon, Theodore Stegmaier and Oscar S. Wilson.

Community No. 5, Potomac Valley, George's Creek and Frostburg—George M. Barlow, Clifford Bennett, Wilbur Collins, Clarence M. George, William A. Goodwin, Vernon J. Loar, Aden T. Miller, Edward Rephann, Harry T. Warnick and Nat Workman.

Stegers Heads Supervisors

The county election board which is supervising the election includes County Agent Joseph M. Stegers, chairman; Floyd Buser, representing the Farm Bureau; Martin M. Gordon, representing the Soil Conservation Service, and B. Beeson Snyder, representing the Farm Home Administration.

Each of the five communities also has an election board. Members include Conda N. Smith, Olney Whitfield and Marvin L. Golden for Community 1; Wilbur Crabtree, Robert M. Appel and Lawrence W. Mallory Sr. for Community 2; McKinley Morris, E. B. Kisamore and Paul H. Browning for Community 3; R. W. Ferguson, Earl H. Lopley and William A. Moore for Community 4, and William E. Shumaker, Howard E. Llewellyn and Charles S. Harvey for Community 5.

Today's Sermonette

By their fruits shall you know them. Matthew 7:20.

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Frostburg, by the pastor, Rev. William J. Yingling. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Share Christ Today!

By REV. WILLIAM J. YINGLING

We come upon the season of Thanksgiving, that time when, as individuals and as a nation, we pause to reflect upon God's blessings to us and to ponder the great love He continually bestows upon us.

As Christian people we face the ever-present twin dangers concerning thanksgiving. The first is that our thanksgiving will become simply a perfunctory, matter-of-fact routine which, having been offered, is quickly forgotten. The second great danger is that the giving of thanks will be confined to words alone. While verbal expressions are one important way in which thanks may be shown, we are sadly amiss if we feel that thanksgiving is confined to such verbal expressions alone.

Our brief, but important, text comes into play at this point. If thanksgiving consists in more than words, it obviously concerns the totality of life—words, plus, deeds, plus the whole of life. Attitudes and actions speak eloquently the extent of our thanksgiving or the lack of it. The fruits of thanksgiving are to be found in the deeds of our lives. A thankful voice and a selfish heart are surely not consistent.

We are reminded by the writer of First John that "if a man say, I love God and hate his brother, he is a liar; for he who loves not his brother whom he has seen, how can he love God whom he has not seen?" Might not the same thought be expressed regarding our thanksgiving? If we shut our hearts of compassion to our brethren in need, how can we say we are real-between them is Roberta Lashley of Mt. Savage High School, second runner-up. At the extreme right is Norma Jean Llewellyn, Bruce High School, Westernport, third runner-up. The county winner now will compete in the state contest in Baltimore.

Allegany High Girl Wins Democracy Talk Contest

Patricia Kerns of Allegany High School yesterday was judged the winner of the county-wide Voice of Democracy speech contest which was sponsored again this year by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

Three runners-up also were designated by the judges.

Martin, Lewis Back Dystrophy Campaign Here

The Cumberland Fire Department, working hand-in-hand with area volunteer firemen in the muscular dystrophy drive which opened yesterday, has received a telegram from Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis of Hollywood, backers of the annual campaign.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, who placed the telegram on the bulletin board at Central Fire Station, said it reads as follows:

"Godspeed to the volunteer marchers for muscular dystrophy this Thanksgiving season as they walk for those unable to walk for themselves. "We know you will not miss a single house so every neighbor can give. Our hearts will be with you every step of the way. May God bless you all."

Woman Hurt In Fall

Mrs. Ruth McDaniel, 52, of 133 Bedford Street, injured her left hip yesterday morning at her home when a grandchild ran in front of her, causing the grandmother to lose her balance and fall. She was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital for X-rays and observation.

who did not know the identity of the speakers until after the contest was finished. The 11 contestants were designated simply by number.

Donald A. Workman, chairman of the Jaycee committee for the project, said that Joan Robinson Garlitz of Fort Hill High School was the first runner-up. Second runner-up was Roberta Lashley, representing Mt. Savage High School, and third runner-up was Norma Jean Llewellyn, Bruce High School, Westernport.

All four of the top contestants will receive trophies and Allegany High School will get to keep the large loving cup for a year. Fort Hill High School held it the past year as George Eskin was last year's winner. He went on to win the state championship.

Miss Kerns will compete against other Maryland local winners in Baltimore early in December for the state title.

The county victor is a senior at Allegany. A member of the National Honor Society, she is underclass editor of the Allegany school yearbook; president of the orchestra and choir, vice president of the French Club and is a member of both the Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra and the Cumberland Choral Society.

Judges were R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State Teachers College; William H. Eisenberger, manager of radio station WDBY, where the contest was held, and Dr. Elizabeth Atwater of the faculty of Potomac State College in Keyser.

Other contestants were Nora Ann Egan, St. Mary's High School; Sally Anne McGreevy, Catholic Girls Central High School; Elaine Bingham, Ursuline Academy; Frances Brode, Beall High School, Frostburg; Walter McKenzie, Valley High School, Lonaconing; Charlotte Hout, Flintstone High School, and Georgia Wolfe, Oldtown High School.

Agriculture Head Dies At 71

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 20 (AP)—James Blaine McLaughlin, West Virginia's commissioner of agriculture, died late today in King's Daughters Hospital. He was 71.

The veteran state official was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage Friday in his hotel room here. Associates said he had come to Martinsburg from Charleston to discuss the possible sale of orchard interests he owned in the Eastern Panhandle.

The illness had left him paralyzed along his right side. Early today he lapsed into a coma. Death came shortly before 6 p.m.

With him was his son, Col. James K. McLaughlin, commanding officer of West Virginia's Air National Guard.

McLaughlin, a native of Glendon in Braxton County, lived at Big Chimney just outside Charleston. He was elected agriculture commissioner when the Democrats swept into control of the state government in 1932 and had served ever since.

McLaughlin organized the West Virginia Farm Bureau in 1920 and served as its executive secretary until 1927.

In 1925, he was appointed a member of the State Board of Education and reappointed in 1931. He also has served as a member of the Geological Survey Commission and of the State Industrial and Publicity Commission.

Concert Proceeds Given To Library

A check for $403.77 was presented by the Times and Allegany Company Saturday to Miss Mary G. Walsh for the Cumberland Free Public Library as net proceeds after the newspaper publishing firm paid the fee of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra for its concert here November 11.

The Times-News guaranteed the 90-piece Baltimore Symphony against loss so that the Cumberland area might hear one of the nation's great orchestras. As the newspapers were not presenting the concert to make a profit, it was decided that any profit would be given to the Library.

"We are particularly grateful to the Times-News," said Miss Walsh, the librarian, "because, in bringing a cultural boon to Cumberland in the music line, a real contribution is now also made to the culture represented by the Library."

These LaVale youngsters display the posters which won them prizes in a contest sponsored by the LaVale 100 Club in connection with Know Your Library Month and National Book Week, which ended Saturday. The posters are displayed in the LaVale Library

Flour, Cornmeal Surplus Will Be Distributed

Chapman Reports
On Commodities

Flour and cornmeal will be added to December surplus commodities distributed here, according to a report by the Allegany County Commissioners.

Walter J. Chapman, county road supervisor who has charge of distribution, said the flour, in 10-pound bags, and the cornmeal, in five pound packages, arrived last week.

The demand for these surplus commodities increased this month over October of this year, but decreased from November a year ago.

This month, as the second week of distribution ended Friday, shows that 2,652 families of 8,181 individuals received their allotments. Last month, distribution was made to 2,487 families of 7,740 people. Last year, in November, the distribution was made to 2,952 families of 9,855 people. The record high month was March of 1955 when 3,514 families of 11,922 people received commodities.

The trend indicates, Chapman believes, that more people are finding employment, particularly in construction work, thus causing the decrease in demand, except during extremely cold months, when most construction work halts.

November Distribution

Last week's distribution completed the November allocation. Starting at Eckhart Monday, 112 families of 367 people received 516 pounds butter, 385 pounds cheese, 284 pounds dried milk, and 195 pounds shortening.

At Mt. Savage on Tuesday, 171 families of 582 received 810 pounds butter, 599 pounds cheese, 437 pounds milk and 306 pounds shortening.

On Wednesday at Cresaptown, 111 families of 369 got 512 pounds butter, 390 pounds cheese, 284 pounds milk, and 195 pounds shortening.

In Cumberland Thursday, 975 families of 2,821 received 3,992 pounds butter, 2,968 pounds cheese, 1,917 pounds milk and 1,320 pounds shortening.

Yesterday, also at Cumberland, 224 families of 670 drew 863 pounds of butter, 705 pounds cheese, 482 pounds milk and 333 pounds shortening.

The total November distribution was 11,488 pounds butter, 8,640 pounds cheese, 5,886 pounds milk and 4,140 pounds shortening.

Early In December

Chapman noted that the December distribution, because of the Christmas holidays will start a week early. The distribution of all six commodities including flour and corn meal, will begin at West-ernport on Monday, December 5, and follow the usual schedule through the county.

The registration for January will begin on November 30, and will continue December 1 and 2. Red Cross volunteers who handle the public registration in the county will sit all three days in Frostburg and Lonaconing, only the first day in Westernport, Midland and Eckhart, and the first two days elsewhere.

The Associated Charities, Red Cross and Salvation Army in Cumberland will certify the same three days, and because of the need to close records for the first of the year, the registration must be completed these three days. The Salvation Army and Associated Charities have been registering over a longer period than three days, but it will be necessary this time to complete the registration not later than December 2, Chapman noted.

First Local Ratifies Contract

COVINGTON, Va., Nov. 20 (AP)—Hourly-paid union employees at the local plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. ratified a company contract offer today calling for a 5 per cent across-the-board pay hike with an 8 cent an hour minimum increase.

The announcement was made by Arnold Brown, president of the Covington local of the United Paper Workers (AFL).

At the same time the workers rejected a company compulsory Blue Cross hospitalization plan and postponed a vote on a job evaluation proposal until "a later date."

Brown declined to give out figures on the actual vote but said "more than 700 workers" cast ballots in favor of the company's latest wage offer.

Employees at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co.'s Luke, Md., plant are scheduled to vote on the contract tomorrow and those at Williamsburg, Pa., on Tuesday.

The firm's old contract with its employees expired last Thursday.

(Local 676 at Luke will vote at meetings at the union hall in West-ernport at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. Monday, according to Wilbur Johnson, local president.)

Cold, Clear Air Follows Snowfall

Weather in the tri-state area cleared up yesterday with much of the snow which covered Allegany and Garrett counties Saturday disappearing. Highways were reported bare last night.

Temperatures ranged in the 30s most of the day, with the high in Cumberland recorded at 37 degrees. Low for Sunday was 30 degrees.

Garrett County reported clearing weather and State Roads Commission officials said highways in the westernmost area of the state were about 90 per cent bare. Some icy spots remained on mountain tops and traces of the 5½-inch snowfall of Saturday could be seen along the roadways and in the woodlands.

Terra Alta, W. Va., recorded the largest snowfall, 10 inches Saturday. Temperatures there were about 26 degrees and clearing. Blazer and Altamont each had about four inches of snow, with the mercury dipping to 26 degrees. Both communities reported clearing weather last night, however.

Some traces of snow were visible in Deal, Pa., and Thomas, W. Va., with 26-degree temperatures noted in the Pennsylvania town. Thomas had 34 degrees at 9 o'clock last night.

Most of the mountain roadways both east and west of Cumberland were clear, although some icy spots were noted atop the mountains. The city had a three-inch snowfall Saturday.

Pennsylvania State Police in Bedford said yesterday was clear and cold with blustery winds but no snow since Saturday. Some ice remained in the mountainous regions there but highways were dry throughout most of Bedford County.

West Virginia roads also were bare and dry as temperatures hovered in the low 30s most of the day. Romney had a low of 30 yesterday.

Forecast for today is cloudy and warmer with some rain.

Lions Club To Meet

The Cumberland Lions Club will hold its weekly meeting Wednesday at 12:15 p. m. in the Community Room of the YMCA. The Kiwanis Club will meet at the same time, as its regular meeting falls on Thanksgiving Day. The guest speaker will be Thomas Cumiskey, Assistant Postmaster of the Cumberland Post Office, who will speak on "The United States Postal Service, Its Problems and Its Operation."

Laying Of Pipe Line To Plant To Begin Soon

Bulldozers Build
Construction Road

Cumberland Contracting Company crews are expected to begin laying the water line to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch early next week.

The firm has already cleared about two miles of the right of way, according to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards, and seven of the 27 carloads of pipe needed for the line have been unloaded at the B&O Rolling Mill yard.

Plans called for some of the pipe to be placed along the right of way, where it can be picked up by a crane and lowered into the trench and bolted together.

The company, city officials said, has bulldozed about a mile of construction road, beginning at the company site.

Officials said weather is not expected to interfere much with the laying of the line, which can be laid in freezing weather but will be halted by snow and rain.

The installation job could be completed in about 60 working days, officials said, if up to 500 feet of pipe were laid each working day.

The local company bid $165,175 for laying the 27,000 foot line.

The 18-inch steel pipe was purchased from the Armo Drainage and Metal Products Company, Middletown, Ohio, for $167,715.

Overall cost of the water line, which will provide the $34,000,000 plate glass plant with water for sanitary and standby fire protection, will be about $400,000.

CIO Urges Steps To Provide Jobs In Local Area

A resolution urging that a number of steps be taken to alleviate the impact of unemployment in the Cumberland area was adopted at the 17th annual convention of the Maryland Industrial Union Council (CIO) which ended Saturday in Washington.

The resolution urges establishment of a state-wide committee to implement its suggestion.

An immediate start on the segment of the proposed C&O Canal Parkway nearest Cumberland is one of the proposals. The resolution also urges that the natural resources of the Potomac River, the canal and the mountains east of Cumberland be developed into a series of modern camp sites with access roads either from U.S. Route 40, the planned parkway or State Route 51.

Park Development

Development of Green Ridge State Park with motels, swimming, hunting, fishing and sports provisions also is endorsed in the CIO resolution.

Restoration of strip-mined land should be made mandatory by state law, the resolution adds. After the operators are required to refill the earth, said the union, the state should proceed to reforest or plant cover crops as part of a sound conservation program and effective flood prevention control.

Two members of Local 26, United Rubber Workers, who attended the convention were elected to office. Ralph Beard was elected state vice president for the Cumberland area and David Miller was named to the executive board.

Others Attend

Others from Cumberland at the convention were James Stein, president, and William Sheets, both of Local 26; Earl Sills, vice president, and Harold Riggleman, both of Local 265, Brewery Workers, and Claude McIntyre of the Western Maryland Industrial Union Council.

Farmers Ballot On New ASC Committees

860 May Vote In Annual Poll

It is election time for the farmers of Allegany County and 860 of them have been mailed ballots to cast in the annual Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee elections.

Several changes in the election procedure have been made this year. For one thing, the number of communities in the county for ASC purposes has been reduced from nine to five. Instead of listing two or more nominees for each available position, the election committee has simply listed 10 candidates in each of the five communities.

Each farmer will vote for five of the 10 nominees in his community. The farmer receiving the highest number of votes will be chairman of the community ASC committee and delegate to the county convention at which the county ASC committee will be named.

Share Christ Today!

By REV. WILLIAM J. YINGLING

We come upon the season of Thanksgiving, that time when, as individuals and as a nation, we pause to reflect upon God's blessings to us and to ponder the great love He continually bestows upon us.

As Christian people we face the ever-present twin dangers concerning thanksgiving. The first is that our thanksgiving will become simply a perfunctory, matter-of-fact routine which, having been offered, is quickly forgotten. The second, and great danger is that the giving of thanks will be confined to words alone. While verbal expressions are one important way in which thanks may be shown, we are sadly amiss if we feel that thanksgiving is confined to such verbal expressions alone.

Our brief, but important, text comes into play at this point. If thanksgiving consists in more than words, it obviously concerns the totality of life—words, plus deeds, plus the whole of life. Attitudes and actions speak eloquently the extent of our thanksgiving or the lack of it. The fruits of thanksgiving are to be found in the deeds of our lives. A thankful voice and a selfish heart are surely not consistent.

We are reminded by the writer of First John that "if a man say, I love God and hate his brother, he is a liar; for he who loves not his brother whom he has seen, how can he love God whom he has not seen?" Might not the same thought be expressed regarding our thanksgiving? If we shut our hearts of compassion to our brethren in need, how can we say we are real-ly grateful to God for all his loving kindness and tender mercies? What better way of demonstrating our gratitude to God than by sharing Jesus Christ with those who need Him? And must we not admit that there are multitudes who are searching for Christ but are unable to find him? If we love our Lord and want to show that love, let us share Christ today with some needy soul.

ly grateful to God for all his loving kindness and tender mercies?

What better way of demonstrating our gratitude to God than by sharing Jesus Christ with those who need Him? And must we not admit that there are multitudes who are searching for Christ but are unable to find him? If we love our Lord and want to show that love, let us share Christ today with some needy soul.

And how does one go about sharing Christ? First, we must really know Christ for ourselves, not only with head knowledge, but also, and more so, with genuine life experience. We cannot share anything or anyone unless we have that object or person for our selves. Then there must be the desire to share with someone else. We must have a real and lasting love for our fellowmen. Even as Christ has loved us, so we must love our brethren.

Each Christian must be, as Luther said, a "little Christ" to those who need him. His love for men becomes our love also. His concern, our concern. His zeal, our zeal. His compassion, our compassion. His sacrifice, our sacrifice. Even as He came not to be ministered to, but to minister, so must we go among the races and classes of men, not to be served but to serve. Thus the thanksgiving of words is translated into the thanksgiving of living in ministering service.

This, in essence, is the heart of the Christian message. God so loved the world that he sent Jesus Christ. Of all God's blessings upon man, this stands as the greatest. "Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift." The world needs this message at Thanksgiving and need, how can we say we are real-ly grateful to God for all his loving kindness and tender mercies?

Agriculture Head Dies At 71

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 20.—James Blaine McLaughlin, West Virginia's commissioner of agriculture, died late today in King's Daughters Hospital. He was 71.

The veteran state official was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage Friday in his hotel room here. Associates said he had come to Martinsburg from Charleston to discuss the possible sale of orchard interests he owned in the Eastern Panhandle.

The illness had left him paralyzed along his right side. Early today he lapsed into a coma. Death came shortly before 6 p.m.

With him was his son, Col. James K. McLaughlin, commanding officer of West Virginia's Air National Guard.

McLaughlin, a native of Glendon in Braxton County, lived at Big Chimney just outside Charleston.

He was elected agriculture commissioner when the Democrats swept into control of the state government in 1932 and had served ever since.

McLaughlin organized the West Virginia Farm Bureau in 1920 and served as its executive secretary until 1927.

In 1925, he was appointed a member of the State Board of Education and reappointed in 1931. He also has served as a member of the Geological Survey Commission and of the State Industrial and Publicity Commission.

These LaVale youngsters display the posters which won them prizes in a contest sponsored by the LaVale 100 Club in connection with Know Your Library Month and National Book Week, which ended Saturday. The posters are displayed in the LaVale Library

Flour, Cornmeal Surplus Will Be Distributed

Chapman Reports On Commodities

Flour and cornmeal will be added to December surplus commodities distributed here, according to a report by the Allegany County Commissioners.

Walter J. Chapman, county road supervisor who has charge of distribution, said the flour, in 10-pound bags, and the cornmeal, in five pound packages, arrived last week.

The demand for these surplus commodities increased this month over October of this year, but decreased from November a year ago.

This month, as the second week of distribution ended Friday, shows that 2,652 families of 8,181 individuals received their allotments. Last month, distribution was made to 2,487 families of 7,740 people. Last year, in November, the distribution was made to 2,952 families of 9,855 people. The record high month was March of 1955 when 3,514 families of 11,922 people received commodities.

The trend indicates, Chapman believes, that more people are finding employment, particularly in construction work, thus causing the decrease in demand, except during extremely cold months, when most construction work halts.

November Distribution

Last week's distribution completed the November allocation. Starting at Eckhart Monday, 112 families of 367 people received 516 pounds butter, 385 pounds cheese, 284 pounds dried milk, and 195 pounds shortening.

At Mt. Savage on Tuesday, 171 families of 582 received 810 pounds butter, 599 pounds cheese, 437 pounds milk and 306 pounds shortening.

On Wednesday at Cresaptown, 111 families of 369 got 512 pounds butter, 390 pounds cheese, 284 pounds milk, and 195 pounds shortening.

In Cumberland Thursday, 975 families of 2,821, received 3,992 pounds butter, 2,968 pounds cheese, 1,917 pounds milk and 1,320 pounds shortening.

Yesterday, also at Cumberland, 224 families of 670 drew 863 pounds of butter, 705 pounds cheese, 482 pounds milk and 333 pounds shortening.

The total November distribution was 11,488 pounds butter, 8,640 pounds cheese, 5,886 pounds milk and 4,140 pounds shortening.

Early In December

Chapman noted that the December distribution, because of the Christmas holidays will start a week early. The distribution of all six commodities including flour and corn meal, will begin at West-ernport on Monday, December 5, and follow the usual schedule through the county.

The registration for January will begin on November 30, and will continue December 1 and 2. Red Cross volunteers who handle the public registration in the county will sit all three days in Frostburg and Lonaconing, only the first day in Westernport, Midland and Eckhart, and the first two days elsewhere.

The Associated Charities, Red Cross and Salvation Army in Cumberland will certify the same three days, and because of the need to close records for the first of the year, the registration must be completed these three days. The Salvation Army and Associated Charities have been registering over a longer period than three days, but it will be necessary this time to complete the registration not later than December 2. Chapman noted.

Rotarians To Meet

The weekly meeting of the Cumberland Rotary Club will be held on Tuesday at 12:15 p. m. at the YMCA. The speaker will be the Rev. Maurice Robertson, who will present a message about Thanksgiving.

First Local Ratifies Contract

COVINGTON, Va., Nov. 20.—Hourly-paid union employees at the local plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. ratified a company contract offer today calling for a 5 per cent across-the-board pay hike with an 8 cent an hour minimum increase.

The announcement was made by Arnold Brown, president of the Covington local of the United Paper Workers (AFL).

At the same time the workers rejected a company compulsory Blue Cross hospitalization plan and postponed a vote on a job evaluation proposal until "a later date."

Brown declined to give out figures on the actual vote but said "more than 700 workers" cast ballots in favor of the company's latest wage offer.

Employees at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co.'s Luke, Md., plant are scheduled to vote on the contract tomorrow and those at Williamsburg, Pa., on Tuesday.

The firm's old contract with its employees expired last Thursday.

(Local 676 at Luke will vote at meetings at the union hall in West-ernport at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. Monday, according to Wilbur Johnson, local president.)

Cold, Clear Air Follows Snowfall

Weather in the tri-state area cleared up yesterday with much of the snow which covered Allegany and Garrett counties Saturday disappearing. Highways were reported bare last night.

Temperatures ranged in the 30s most of the day, with the high in Cumberland recorded at 37 degrees. Low for Sunday was 30 degrees.

Garrett County reported clearing weather and State Roads Commission officials said highways in the westernmost area of the state were about 90 per cent bare. Some icy spots remained on mountain tops and traces of the 5½-inch snowfall of Saturday could be seen along the roadways and in the woodlands.

Terra Alta, W. Va., recorded the largest snowfall, 10 inches Saturday. Temperatures there were about 26 degrees and clearing. Blazer and Altamont each had about four inches of snow, with the mercury dipping to 26 degrees. Both communities reported clearing weather last night, however.

Some traces of snow were visible in Deal, Pa., and Thomas, W. Va., with 26-degree temperatures noted in the Pennsylvania town. Thomas had 34 degrees at 9 o'clock last night.

Most of the mountain roadways both east and west of Cumberland were clear, although some icy spots were noted atop the mountains. The city had a three-inch snowfall Saturday.

Pennsylvania State Police in Bedford said yesterday was clear and cold with blustery winds but no snow since Saturday. Some ice remained in the mountainous regions there but highways were dry throughout most of Bedford County.

West Virginia roads also were bare and dry as temperatures hovered in the low 30s most of the day. Romney had a low of 30 yesterday.

Forecast for today is cloudy and warmer with some rain.

Laying Of Pipe Line To Plant To Begin Soon

Bulldozers Build Construction Road

Cumberland Contracting Company crews are expected to begin laying the water line to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch early next week.

The firm has already cleared about two miles of the right of way, according to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards, and seven of the 27 carloads of pipe needed for the line have been unloaded at the B&O Rolling Mill yard.

Plans called for some of the pipe to be placed along the right of way, where it can be picked up by a crane and lowered into the trench and bolted together.

The company, city officials said, has bulldozed about a mile of construction road, beginning at the company site.

Officials said weather is not expected to interfere much with the laying of the line, which can be laid in freezing weather but will be halted by snow and rain.

The installation job could be completed in about 60 working days, officials said, if up to 500 feet of pipe were laid each working day.

The local company bid $165,175 for laying the 27,000 foot line.

The 18-inch steel pipe was purchased from the Armco Drainage and Metal Products Company, Middletown, Ohio, for $167,715.

Overall cost of the water line, which will provide the $34,000,000 plate glass plant with water for sanitary and standby fire protection, will be about $400,000.

CIO Urges Steps To Provide Jobs In Local Area

A resolution urging that a number of steps be taken to alleviate the impact of unemployment in the Cumberland area was adopted at the 17th annual convention of the Maryland Industrial Union Council (CIO) which ended Saturday in Washington.

The resolution urges establishment of a state-wide committee to implement its suggestion.

An immediate start on the segment of the proposed C&O Canal Parkway nearest Cumberland is one of the proposals. The resolution also urges that the natural resources of the Potomac River, the canal and the mountains east of Cumberland be developed into a series of modern camp sites with access roads either from U.S. Route 40, the planned parkway or State Route 51.

Park Development

Development of Green Ridge State Park with motels, swimming, hunting, fishing and sports provisions also is endorsed in the CIO resolution.

Restoration of strip-mined land should be made mandatory by state law, the resolution adds. After the operators are required to refill the earth, said the union, the state should proceed to re-forest or plant cover crops as part of a sound conservation program and effective flood prevention control.

Two members of Local 26, United Rubber Workers, who attended the convention were elected to office. Ralph Beard was elected state vice president for the Cumberland area and David Miller was named to the executive board.

Others Attend

Others from Cumberland at the convention were James Stein, president, and William Steets, both of Local 26; Earl Silles, vice president, and Harold Riggelman, both of Local 265, Brewery Workers, and Claude McIntyre of the Western Maryland Industrial Union Council.

The big upset in the election was James Patterson defeating Charles Della for secretary-treasurer. Both are from United Steel Workers Local 2906 at Sparrows Point plant of Bethlehem Steel Corporation. Della, full time secretary-treasurer for six years, was defeated 343 to 320.

The new president is Culver B. Windsor, Essex, Glenn L. Martin Aircraft Company employee and a member of the United Auto Workers. He succeeds Robert S. Martin of Hagerstown, who did not run.
